Canton to schedule hunt ban hearing

Canton residents may soon have an opportunity to air gripes and feelings over a proposal to ban hunting in Section Five.

Members of the Canton Board of Trustees Tuesday voted 6-1 to ask the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to conduct a public hearing on the proposed hunting ban.

Board members unanimously approved another motion to seek information on making the area a game preserve.

THE ISSUE was prompted by Dorothy Lough, a resident of Section Five, who presented board members with a petition urging adoption of the hunting ban.

More than 80 per cent of Section Five's residents signed the petition, which represents 62 per cent of the area's total land area.

Mrs. Lough's husband, Edward, presented board members with a similar petition several months ago. At that time, board members asked the Section Five resident to gather more signatures of landowners.

Residents of Section Five, bounded by Joy, Warren, Beck and Ridge, are seeking an extension of the township's hunting ban in their neighborhood.

Hunters are now prohibited in three areas of the township—land east of Canton Center; the Centennial Educational Park site, and the southern half of Section Six, bounded by Warren, Ridge and Napier.

"Our lives and the lives of our children and our pets are in danger," Mrs. Lough told board members. "We're being shot at continually. The hunters can't see our homes in a lot of situations, but we can hear their guns."

"In that petition, we're telling you we want action. We want a review and a study. These people have spoken."

SUPERVISOR Robert Greenstein, who cast the only vote against the public hearing request, said residents could jeopardize the area's five-acre residential zoning if the hunting ban were imposed.

The hunting ban could bring 60- and 70-foot residential lots as well as multiple-family developments to Section Five, Greenstein maintains.

"We're trying desperately to stave off that kind of development west of Beck," the supervisor said. "We're trying to establish agricultural zoning, but I've been informed a hunting ban could put 60-foot lots or multiples in back of you."

"Any smart attorney, well-versed in land laws, could use a hunting ban as an argument that the land isn't rural in nature. Therefore, he could say, a builder should have a right to build 60- or 70-foot lots."

"It's a reasonable certainty that some speculator who owns land out there won't want to build on one-acre lots."

"I live in northwest Canton, and I got into politics because someone tried to put 70-foot lots out there," Greenstein continued. "I believe someone will break the zoning out there on this basis."

CLERK JOHN Flodin noted an unsuccessful attempt several years ago to impose a hunting ban in Section Five.

By state law, the DNR has veto power in hunting ban issues. The DNR usually recommends hunting bans only in densely populated areas, according to Bruce Andrews, the DNR's conservation law executive.

Most board members favor scheduling of the public hearing, nevertheless. A committee, composed of Andrews, a township official and a representative of the Michigan State Police, will conduct the hearing and submit a recommendation to the township board.

"I, too, want to keep that area

'Subs' awarded full contracts

The Plymouth Board of Education voted 4-3 Monday night to approve contracts for 10 teachers previously employed as permanent subs.

At an earlier meeting, the board voted to authorize the personnel director to offer contracts to the permanent subs. Monday Personnel Director Norman Kee recommended offering contracts to each of the 10.

Voting against offering contracts were trustees George Lawton, Joe Gray and Gary Mirto. In favor were trustees Marda Benson, Marcia Borowski, E.J. McClendon and Tom Yack.

state reductions are known but he supported offering contracts to the permanent subs.

Borowski commented: "I really think it is an affront to these teachers to ask them to do their job with an inferior rate of pay and no fringe benefits. I think it's an affront to those children who don't know who will be their teacher tomorrow. I think we are obligated to treat teachers and students fairly and it's grossly unfair to ask someone to do a job under these present circumstances."

McCLENDON said there are always questions and uncertainties about any budget, but the district had to provide the needed teachers to operate the educational program the community expects.

Borowski cautioned that failure to offer contracts could lead to future problems at the bargaining table with the Plymouth Education Association (PEA)—sole bargaining agent for Plymouth teachers.

"If we take an enlightened management stance tonight, I think we can keep and protect some of our management rights at the bargaining table."

Mirto commented: "We are facing proposed large cuts in our budget. Our first responsibility is to the persons who pay thousands of dollars into this district—the taxpayers."

"We are faced with uncertainties and a rocky road ahead on the budget. Yet certain board members have already established their budget priorities which is the furthest thing from enlightened management."

In other action, the board heard a report from the administration on a proposal from Wayne State University to do a cost analysis study on the expense of the educational program at the Centennial Educational Park.

Trustees decided to meet with the WSU representatives before making a decision on the study.

Christian school to be opened next fall in Canton Township

By DARLENE STINSON

Elementary pupils in the Plymouth-Canton community may receive some Christian Biblical training come next fall along with reading, writing and arithmetic.

That's the hopes of members of the Calvary Baptist Church, 43065 Joy, who are planning the construction and opening of the Plymouth Christian Academy in September, 1976.

THE SCHOOL, as envisioned by church officials, will integrate a literal interpretation of the Bible with academic excellence, a traditional mode of teaching and parental participation.

Architectural drawings of the school, submitted by architect Thomas Hansz, are already complete, according to the Rev. G. Douglas Routledge, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church.

Harry Guess, 29, current administrator of Shades Mountain Christian School in Birmingham Ala., and a faculty member of the Southeastern Bible College's education department in Birmingham, has agreed to serve as the school's administrator.

Church officials, who have not yet received site plan approval from the Canton Township Board of Trustees, hope to begin the school's construction on church grounds next spring.

Routledge says the school will accomplish a three-fold goal of Christian interdenominational education—an in-school consistency with the teachings of a Christian home; the presentation of subject matter from a Christian perspective; and contact with Christian teachers.

"We're seeking to teach our children a select philosophy of life," Routledge explained. "But, when we take our children to a secular institution, that philosophy is often contradicted. We're going to work as an extension of the home. We feel education is the parent's responsibility."

The school's faculty, Routledge explained, will approach all subject matter from a Christian point of view.

"Our philosophy is Biblically-based, and all subject matter will be constantly filtered through the word of God. We believe every subject ought to be taught from the perspective of God and his revelation—the Bible."

"Often the facts taught in a secular school are the same," Routledge said, "but the interpretation is different." Christian teachers have a tremendous influence on the child.

ALTHOUGH church officials have not yet determined the grade structure for the school's first year, they envision an eventual enrollment of 800 or 900 pupils in grades kindergarten through 12.

The school will begin as an elementary school with a maximum 25 pupils per classroom, explained Guess. Church officials will probably add one grade each year.

Routledge said school officials will screen each student for acceptance purposes. Enrollment, he added, is open "to anyone who is sympathetic to our goals."

"We're talking about academic excellence and the highest spiritual status as well." "We're concerned that the secular institutions cannot do

Canton group organizing a historical committee

A group of residents interested in forming a Canton historical committee has scheduled an organizational meeting for Nov. 18 and has invited as guest speaker the executive director of the Historical Society of Michigan.

The organizational meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the new recreation building at Sheldon and Michigan Ave. Those hoping to organize a Canton historical committee include Mrs. Fredrica Rossi and Mrs. Mary Houk.

The public, especially residents interested in the preservation of historic sites, records and documents, is invited to the organizational meeting. Refreshments will be served.

ADVICE ON forming a local historical group will be given by Frank C. Wilhelme, 29, who is executive director of the Historical Society of Michigan which is headquartered in Ann Arbor.

Wilhelme was only 26 and a student in archives administration at Wayne State University when he was named executive director of the Historical Society. He is the youngest person ever to head the organization.

He earned his BA and MA in history at Eastern Michigan University where he also was a member of the track team. He helped form and was first president of the Dexter Historical Society in 1971.

He has worked as a high school teacher and coach in Dexter, was park director and assistant sports supervisor for the Dearborn Recreation Department, and worked part-time for the WSU Labor History and Urban Affairs Archives.

Too often, he says, citizens wait until the last minute to take steps to restore or preserve buildings or areas of interest. "They don't become concerned until the bulldozers move in. Local awareness and concern has to be generated before a threat occurs, not at the same time."

FRANK WILHELME

It is essential to know what is worth saving, he adds, to realize what artifacts are indicative of the area and era.

"The need is to develop an organized approach toward current issues that will play a vital role in determining the fate of the state's historic attributes. And people of all ages are becoming increasingly concerned that we'll lose through neglect or indifference a valuable part of our heritage."

MRS. ROSSI first became involved in Canton history as a member of the League of Women Voters.

The LWV had asked her to compile information on Canton's history for a "Know Your Township" booklet it is preparing to publish.

"There was little information available," she explains, "and so I turned to senior citizens who have lived in Canton for some time."

"I met Miss Elsa Utter, a retired Plymouth school teacher, and she was a big help. She introduced me to a number of farmers in Canton who had a lot of knowledge of the township's past."

During this time, Mrs. Rossi met Mrs. Houk, who expressed her concern about the need to preserve historical sites, literature and records about Canton. Mrs. Houk suggested a historical committee ought to be formed and the two decided to begin efforts to organize one.

That effort led to the contact with Wilhelme who agreed to come to Canton Nov. 18 and help interested residents organize a historical committee.

Vietnam family 'adopted'

The Vietnamese family sponsored by Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Parish has arrived and the Christian Service group of the church is hoping for a donation of a dining room table and chairs which will seat a family of 10.

Lien Ngoc Vu and his wife have nine children, but the one-month-old baby won't be joining his parents and eight brothers and sisters at the table for a year or so.

The baby was born in the refugee camp in Pennsylvania where the Vus have lived since their evacuation from their homeland last spring.

A SPONSORING group must guarantee a job for the father and housing for the family.

Nu, a tailor by trade, is working for Dave Henry in the Old Village Upholstery Shop. The family is in temporary quarters in Vista Marie home in northwest Detroit until their house on Kellogg is ready.

A work crew from the parish cleaned the house last Saturday. This week they hope to paint the interior.

Rewiring is necessary before the donated stove and refrigerator can be plugged in.

Pat O'Loughlin of the Christian Service organization says they also have received beds, clothing and some appliances.

Clothing is a problem because it is difficult to match sizes to the individuals, according to American standards.

"Mr. Vu has a 14-inch neck size and 21-inch arm length," said Mrs. O'Loughlin. "The 13-year-old weighs just 50 pounds but has a 23-inch waistline."

FRED HILL of John Smith men's wear is going to have the children measured and try to come up with a set of sizes to facilitate outfitting the family with clothing. The oldest child is 15. The parents are in their late 30s.

The local parish decided to sponsor a Vietnamese family in answer to a special national plea by the bishops of the United States.

"The camp in Pennsylvania was almost like a concentration camp," said Mrs. O'Loughlin. "They were not allowed to go out of the camp and no one was allowed to visit them."

Communication has been a problem because the family does not speak English. They have been able to have some exchange of information through another refugee sponsored by St. Thomas Catholic Church in Detroit. The interpreter is a photographer who has slides taken while they lived in the camp. Mrs. O'Loughlin says she hopes the photographer will give a slide presentation of a typical day in the refugee camp to a local audience.

Persons wishing to donate clothing or furniture, or who wish information on how they can assist the Christian Service group in the family project should call Barbara Cousineau at 459-0594 or Mrs. O'Loughlin at 453-0881.

League releases land use study results for Canton

The Canton League of Women Voters has reached a consensus position on what it believes would be a good policy on land use in the township.

The consensus follows several months of study by Canton members of the Plymouth-Canton-Northville-Nowi League of Women Voters. After research was completed, the Canton committee of the LWV reported its findings and then the league took a vote.

In its position paper, the league addressed such questions as open space, commercial use, schools, multiple housing, requirements for preliminary site plan approval, regional and county land use plans.

THE LEAGUE urges that the township should study needs for adequate public open-space recreational land for the present and future population and frequently update the study.

The League defines open space for public recreation as "land not developed, set aside in its natural state, and land set aside for active and passive recreation."

The position urges that Canton provide recreational facilities, such as an ice rink, tennis courts, swimming pools, bicycle paths, golf courses and baseball diamonds, with such facilities dispersed in accessible locations determined by need and population density.

To preserve critical lands, the league believes the township should continue to explore possibilities for acquisition of land, encourage tax relief, or consider zoning and any other viable means of preserving land.

The policy defines critical land as: land suitable and necessary for agriculture or horticultural uses; sensitive or unique environmental areas such as wetlands, wildlife habitats, floodplains or natural wooded areas; and historic sites, structures.

In suggesting guidelines for commercial development, the LWV suggests that up to five per cent maximum of the developed area should be developed commercial.

"The development of commercial facilities should be based upon a realistic determination of current market potential. Further strip commercial zoning should be discouraged along highways and major thoroughfares.

"Commercial areas should be carefully designed to be compatible with surrounding development and should promote the health, safety, and welfare of the people by using a variety of buffers such as berms, landscaping, and greenbelts. Alternatives to the present parking lot design should be encouraged."

SCHOOL SITES should be considered at the time the master plan is developed, the LWV stated, with the school board making decisions on site location with advice of the township planning commission.

The league supports the policy adopted by the Plymouth Board of Education April 10, 1973 which states elementary schools shall serve basic neighborhoods with children transported to balance building capacity and class loads or to meet specific needs of some youth.

The school district's goal is to have each building serve 672 pupils in grades K-5 based on an average of 28 students per classroom, or to serve as few as 336 pupils in geographic areas where the larger school is impractical. Middle schools should serve about 1,000 students in grades 6-8 and include some fifth grades from overcrowded elementary areas. High schools should serve about 2,000 youth.

The district's policy sees minimum sizes for sites as 10 acres for elementary schools, 16 acres for middle schools, and 50 acres for high schools.

The league believes that when a development contains 500 single-family or 800 multi-family units, a school site should be made available to the district for a token fee, provided school construction begins within five years after completion of the project.

Schools shouldn't be located on major thoroughfares, the LWV believes.

BECAUSE OF THE high percentage of multiples already approved in Canton, the league believes further development of multiples—except for senior citizen or low-income persons—should be discouraged unless they are cluster developments with low density.

The township should obtain information from developers of multiple projects which can be used to determine the need for such things as parks, playgrounds, fire walls, sprinkler systems, smoke detectors, internal hallway fire-suppression equipment, lighted and adequate parking, court commons areas, and adequate security.

"Housing for senior citizens should be encouraged. The township, with citizen input, should be responsible for identifying the needs and determining how they should be met.

"Low income housing should be provided in small, scattered developments. A special effort should be made to assure that these developments are compatible in appearance with housing in the surrounding areas. Adequate maintenance should be provided."

ON SITE PLAN approval procedures, the LWV urges that a detailed environmental impact statement be required for any commercial, residential or industrial development of significant size.

Such statements, where applicable, should detail effect on floodplains, historical properties, wetlands, noise and air quality, traffic patterns, and parking. The statements should be made available to the public.

Regional plans should be taken into consideration in the development of the local master plan, the league states, and where conflict appears, attempts should be made to resolve this conflict before site plan approval.

Districts begin lawsuit on school financing

By MARILYN FITCHETT

Wayne-Westland Schools, along with Livonia and Plymouth School Districts, is questioning the constitutionality of the state aid formula pertaining to state aid cutbacks.

The three school districts have engaged the services of the law firm Keller, Thoma, Toppin and Schwarze of Detroit to seek the Attorney General's ruling regarding the matter.

The case hinges on the fact that in allocating state aid payments to schools districts, payments are based on the first 27 mills levied in the district. The districts receive no additional state money for local higher millage rates.

But in the case of state aid cutbacks, the state reduces individual district's aid based on the total millage levied in the the district.

Wayne-Westland leads the state in millage levied with 37.65 mills. Both Plymouth and Livonia approach the mid-30 mill mark.

Wayne-Westland Supt. Timothy Dyer noted that the difference in basing state aid on only 27 mills is a difference in his district of $4.6 million.

"The legal question is that in appropriating money, the state goes up the ladder 27 mills and stops, but when it comes to making cutback, the state comes down 37 rungs.

"We feel this is grossly unfair. All we ask is that if the state is going to go up 27 steps, then they ought to come down the same way.

"We realize that cuts have to be made, but we feel that this formula discriminates against high effort districts."

Dyer said he anticipates a reply from Attorney General Frank Kelley in four to five weeks.

"WE'VE EXPLORED THE alternatives. We've met with our legislators, with the governor and with House Speaker Bobby Crim. We did everything we could to avoid taking this action.

"Our legislators lost their battle and the governor didn't recognize our concern. Going to the Attorney General seems to be the quickest possible route."

Dyer explained that an unfavorable decision from Kelley would not rule out court action.

"We need a strong opinion from the Attorney General," Dyer said. "But we also need to settle this fundamental issue and that's equal protection of every child's education in this state.

"We hope to have a serious change in the way the state aid formula works."

ALTHOUGH THERE are 111 school districts in the state which top 27 mills levied, Dyer admitted that some of the districts are only mildly affected since the millage does not greatly exceed 27 mills in those districts.

Hunter to observe golden anniversary

Louis Buehler, 86, will be leaving for the northern woods Friday for what will be his 50th consecutive deer hunting trip.

Buehler lived at Haggerty and Ford Roads in Canton Township for 54 years until moving to the City of Wayne in 1971. He is well-known in the Plymouth-Canton-Wayne area.

He has been a committed woodsman since 1926 when, following a tip from a sod customer, he and three friends began stalking deer along an old barge-tote road between Seney and Grand Marais in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

But while the three district had earlier thought of including other districts in the suit, the law firm hired advised against including other districts.

"Legal counsel advised to simplify the issue as much as possible," Dyer said. "We need only a few examples to prove a point of law."

Dyer added that a second brief will be filed with the Attorney General.

In it, Bloomfield Hills and 30 other districts also will be questioning the state aid formula. But these districts, according to Dyer, fall into a different category, since they receive no state aid payments, but only aid for such areas as special education.

The trip was then two days and two nights in a Model T truck and, from 1926-41, Buehler and a variety of friends spent two weeks tenting in this area each year.

For the next nine deer seasons, hunting trips were conducted to the relatively plush setting of a cabin just south of the Tahquamenon Falls. The trip was then accomplished through a tractor-pulled trolley out of the Soo Junction, followed by a 16-mile boat trip up the Tahquamenon River.

While the cabin was a little more genteel than sleeping on pine boughs, the glassless windows had to be covered with plastic as protection against the wind.

Finally, Buehler and seven partners invested in a cabin 14 miles north of Newberry on Auger Lake in the UP and deer hunting treks were taken here until the cabin was sold in 1972.

In recent years, Buehler and Bill Conner, 82—a constant partner in hunting and fishing since 1936—have hunted the Beaver Lake area 16 miles west of Alpena. This is where he will be heading for tomorrow (Friday) to mark his golden anniversary of deer hunting. He has always hunted with a rifle and has avoided the more recent sport of bow and arrow hunting for deer.

Yack outlines metric progress

Wayne-Westland's Project Metric, now in its second year of three-year funding, is striving for recognition as a national model.

Tom Yack, Project Metric director, outlined metric progress in a presentation to the Wayne-Westland Board of Education Monday.

Yack explained the district's goal of involving elementary schools the first year, junior highs in the second year and the senior highs schools in the third year. During each phase of the program, there is an emphasis on community involvement.

"In evaluating our program, we tested everyone in sight," Yack said. "We discovered that 72 percent of the adults tested who did not have children in metric schools, knew of Project Metric and its goal of introducing the metric system to the community."

ACCORDING TO DR. JAMES DOYLE, district research director, of the 354 school districts which applied for metric funding, only 17 succeeded.

"If we can show we're a significant model and that we haven't been duplicated, we might become the national model," Doyle said.

He said presently the district's program is undergoing a four point evaluation by the state which has provided about $175,000 for each of the first two Project Metric years.

"The four areas for evaluation are innovativeness, exportability, hard data evidence and cost effectiveness," Doyle said.

"We have to show that projects like ours exist in less than five percent of the state's school districts. We have to prove that we can take our program and have it be successful in Detroit or Inkster.

"The hard data is to find out if the students are learning. Cost effectiveness measures whether a district can provide metric learning without it being a drain on the district's budget."

By the end of this school year 14,500 students will have had some experience with metric measurement.

Yack is hoping to secure an additional $35,000 grant from the federal government to advance the project.

BOARD MEMBER AGNES GREENE questioned the future of metric in the district after the third year of the state grant is over.

"At the end of the three years, every teacher will have been trained in metrics," Yack answered. "The only money that might be needed is to replace equipment the district already has."

Yack also summed up the national picture on legislation.

"The House of Representatives has already passed a metric bill and the Senate is expected to pass it as well. The country should be formally on its way to metric in two months. This time there was no guideline set, which indicate to some that it will take less than 10 years to convert the county to metric."

Supt. Timothy Dyer added a metric sidebar.

"One of the speakers I heard on metric system was explaining how the wine industry, especially in California, is suffering.

"Common Market countries will not accept California wine unless it is in metric containers. This represents $5 billion in trade so the California wine producers are bottling two ways—one for the export market and one for domestic consumption.

"Without metric bottling, they would be frozen out of the market."

this. We're not hostile malcontents, but we are spiritually discontent."

STUDENTS AT the Plymouth Christian Academy, according to Guess's expectations, should achieve higher levels of accomplishments than those at public schools.

The school's board of regents, headed by chairman Jan Mangan, will outline the school's grade structure for next fall after surveying the community's response to the school concept, Routledge explained.

About 300 parents attended a meeting at the church last week to learn about the school proposal.

"The response indicates a really widespread interest in this area and beyond," Routledge says. "The encouraging thing goes beyond the meeting itself. We've had a tremendous amount of phone calls."

The tuition structure at the Plymouth Christian Academy is tentatively set at $400 to $500 for kindergarten and $600 to $800 for elementary grades.

The school will hold affiliations with the National Christian Schools Education Association, the Michigan Association of Christian Schools and the American Association of Christian Schools.

Persons are asked to contact Calvary Baptist Church, 43065 Joy, for further information.

Hunting

rural, but I don't want hunting either," said Canton Treasurer Carl Parsell. "I think the least we can do is have the public hearing."

"I agree," said Trustee Gerald Cheske. "I feel we have a vast majority of the people asking for this."

Parsell moved to ask the DNR to schedule a public hearing on the proposed hunting ban. At Greenstein's suggestion, Parsell raised another motion, under which township officials will research making Section Five a game preserve.

According to the supervisor, a game preserve would not jeopardize the area's zoning.

George Starkweather: 1st white man born here

Among important landmarks still existing in Plymouth is a large, well-preserved house located at 711 Starkweather Ave. at the northwest corner of Liberty St.

Exactly a century ago this year, it was built by the man who was the first white child born in what is now the city—a man who became prominent in the community as a lawyer, farmer and businessman.

He was George Anson Starkweather, whose parents, William and Keziah, established the first home in the village in 1825. George was born here on Feb. 20 of the following year. He attended the University of Michigan for a short time in 1844, leaving when his father died in that year. Later he went to New York City where he studied law.

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT by Sam Hudson

STARKWEATHER returned to Plymouth to become the village lawyer and to farm part of the 80 acres left by his parents in the northern part of the village.

In 1864, he was reported to be one of the heavier stockholders in the Detroit and Howell Railroad, which was incorporated in that year but which went into receivership before it got into operation.

In 1865, Starkweather married a girl 18 years younger than he, Amelia Heywood, adopted daughter of Mary Davis. During the same year, he purchased from Joshua Scattergood a general store facing the Village Green (Kellogg Park). Shortly thereafter, he joined with R.G. Hall to form the general store of Hall and Starkweather.

That partnership was dissolved in the fall of 1870. Starkweather continued in business by himself, as lawyer and storekeeper. He was located on the ground floor of the brick building on Main Street, facing the park, which also housed Amity Hall.

IN 1871, the year the railroads came to Plymouth, Starkweather decided that the depot area in North Village was the coming hub of activity in the community.

To capitalize on his hunch, he built the brick building still located at the corner of Starkweather and Liberty Streets, and moved his store from the Kellogg Park area to the new location. Expecting an early sale of building lots, which didn't materialize, he opened a road through his property in 1870. It led north from Main Street and he called it Oak Street. Sometime after his death, the village council renamed it Starkweather Avenue.

George and Amelia Starkweather had two children: Mary Keziah, born in 1866, and Blanche, born in 1868. For a few years, the family lived above the new store. In 1875, 100 years ago this year, George Starkweather died and moved into the house referred to earlier, locating it diagonally across from his store.

Davis B. Hillmer, grandson of George Starkweather (and son of Louis Hillmer and George's oldest daughter, Mary Keziah), told me in a recent interview that his older brother Karl, who died a few years ago, was born in that house on Christmas morning, 1889. Another brother, Max Hillmer, had a successful career in automotive manufacturing, rising from draftsman to president and general manager of General Motors' Saginaw Steering Division, before he died at the age of 62.

Davis, the third brother, who is now 79 and a resident of Plymouth, was a well-known commercial photographer in Detroit. Among his long-time clients, during a 50-year career from 1922 to 1972, was the J.L. Hudson department store. There were two daughters in the George Starkweather family, Gertrude and Rose, both married.

George Anson Starkweather died in Plymouth at the age of 81 on Feb. 17, 1907, during the same month in which he was born. A year before his grandfather's death, Karl Hillmer left his job at Daisy to attend the ailing octogenarian. Karl, who was proud of his heritage, and who wanted to perpetuate the Starkweather name, went to Probate Court in 1924 to have his last name changed from Hillmer to Starkweather.

George Starkweather was a prominent civic leader in both the township and the village. He was township supervisor for several terms in the mid-1800s and was village president in 1898.

He led the small contingent of Plymouthites which attended the meeting in Northville in 1898 in an unsuccessful attempt to dissuade the dissidents of that village from seceding from Plymouth Township. Besides the street that bears his name, Starkweather is also memorialized in the name of Starkweather School, where his picture hangs in one of the corridors.

THE BOOKS a man has in his library indicate more than the extent of his education; they are often a clue to the set of his mind.

Cognizant of that, I asked Karl Starkweather, in 1967, if he would provide me with a list of the books, other than law treatises, owned by his grandfather.

Among the list were four by Samuel

Smiles, the Scottish author, who was popular in the 19th century for his lay sermons on industry and honesty. Enlivened with numerous anecdotes from the lives of the virtuous and the successful, Smiles' books exalted the moral qualities of hard work and persistence, and minimized the effects of genius, talent and native intelligence.

Among the volumes by Smiles in George Starkweather's library were Self-Help, Character, Duty and Thrift. These, and a copy of William Matthews' Getting On In The World, are clear indications of Starkweather's leaning toward the Protestant ethic popular in his time.

Books of a less materialistic nature, among the several hundred books in Starkweather's library, included The Complete Poetical Works of Lord Byron, The Life and Public Services of Abraham Lincoln, and a two-volume set by Horace Greeley on The American Conflict.

The house that George Starkweather built in Plymouth, 100 years ago, is now occupied by a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Starkweather, Mrs. Doris Sabo and her son, Daniel.

Mrs. Helen Steiner of Redford is the new chairman of Red Cross volunteers serving northwestern Wayne County. Mrs. Steiner has served as a Red Cross volunteer for 12 years. She also has served in its blood program and on the board of directors of the south-eastern Michigan chapter.

Rouge Valley engineers elect 1975-76 officers

Leonard W. Bell of Plymouth has been elected president of the Rouge Valley Chapter, Michigan Society of Professional Engineers.

Gregory W. Dean, also of Plymouth, was named secretary.

Three Livonians were chosen for other offices. Lloyd S. Hughes was elected treasurer, and Stanley J. Garner and Robert M. Hay were picked to be chapter directors.

Jaldhar Prasad of Westland is the new community affairs chairman. Paul N. Rick of Plymouth is professional development chairman, and Patrick J. Smithbauer, also of Plymouth, will serve as Engineers Week chairman.

The Rouge Valley chapter is one of 22 in the Michigan Society and one of 541 nationally. The National Society of Professional Engineers numbers more than 70,000.

Membership is comprised primarily of professional engineers who are government licensed and registered and are the only engineers who can utilize the initials P.E. following their names. The Rouge Valley chapter usually holds its monthly meetings at the Hillside Inn in Plymouth.

Madonna sets 2 open houses

"Career Close-Up" is the theme of open houses at Madonna College scheduled for potential students on Sunday, Nov. 16 at 2 p.m. Monday, Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Louis E. Brohl, director of admissions, has extended an invitation to adults in the community considering returning to post secondary education

About 50 coin phones a week are put in top working condition by Earl Milligan and his co-workers at the Western Electric plant on Sheldon Road.

Western Electric line producing coin phones

Reconditioned old coin phones are rolling off the assembly line at Western Electric in Plymouth at the rate of 50 phones a week.

The coin phones—old models which have been removed from service—are being reconditioned here to become part of Michigan Bell's "Design Line" of decorative phones.

Four styles of reconditioned coin phones and 12 other models of decorative phones are being sold to customers throughout the state. A display is in the office of Michigan Bell in Plymouth on Main Street next to the Plymouth Observer & Eccentric office.

The exterior housing of the phones—including the coin models—are sold directly to customers. The telephone company, however, retains ownership of the working components and is responsible for their maintenance, explains Haze Wilson, Michigan Bell local manager.

The old coin phones are given "new life" at Western's Michigan Service Center on Sheldon Road. "At the center the old phones are disassembled, repainted and put in top working condition," says Wilson.

"WHEN THEY leave here, they work like any of our other phones but you don't have to deposit a dime to make a call with one of the Design Line coin phones."

The bell has been relocated in each coin phone "so that if you want to drop change in the coin slots you can still hear the authentic sounds of coins striking the bell. But this way you can get your money back because the interior of the phone has been converted into a bank."

Up until now, Wilson explains, old coin phones were stripped of all recyclable or salvageable parts and the rest was sold as scrap.

"But now we are offering unusual conversation pieces and preventing these old phones from becoming extinct like so many phones from the past."

The coin phones—from $115 to $130—are shipped directly from the Western Electric Center to the buyer and can be plugged into a jack if one is available. If not, the company will install a jack. Regular monthly charges and service connection fees also apply.

The housings carry a six-month warranty.

Frank Clink inspects old coin phones which will be reconditioned.

Way Real Estate?

Of all the fields which you might enter, few offer the incredible opportunity and challenge found in a real estate career! The opportunity to help others to a fuller, richer life and gain tremendous personal satisfaction PLUS the challenge to achieve financial security, in a field where success is directly proportional to your own desire, effort and ability!

Men and women, young and old, have the same opportunities in a real estate career. As an independent contractor, you are your own "boss" subject only to the responsibility of making yourself available to customers in arranging appointments and showing properties at their convenience.

As such you have many of the benefits of being "in business for yourself", but with a minimal investment! In real estate, you have a great deal of personal control over the time you spend working and can set your own pace and hours.

Way Chamberlain?

A PHILOSOPHY: A philosophy of professionalism, that began in 1948, that will open doors for you and help you get buyers and listings.

PEOPLE: You will work with some of the most successful people in the industry, who are rewarded for their efforts through generous commission and bonus programs.

TRAINING: You will receive professional, effective sales training that will help you become more confident and help increase your success ratio.

TOTAL MARKETING: You will be joining a company that has a multi-faceted marketing program, coordinated by a professional advertising executive, that utilizes all the proven media to produce buyers and listings.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS: There are numerous special programs such as the Intercomm nation wide referral service and "Peace of Mind Program", that are exclusively Chamberlain's which help you reach a wider market.

SERVICE: You will have one of the finest closing departments servicing your clients. Also, because of our size, we are often in a better position to arrange financing for your buyers.

SUCCESS: It's a fact! We have a proven record with sales averaging over one million dollars every three days!

What's The First Step?

Chamberlain is seeking ambitious, aggressive men and women who want a career in real estate. Men and women who want a profession where the "sky is the limit" in self-satisfaction and earning potential. Sound interesting? Then take the first step by becoming a candidate in Chamberlain's exclusive selection system, which is designed to show how "comfortable" you would be in real estate sales, BEFORE you make a career commitment! So, call TODAY!

Before it's stamped Wrigley it's got to be stamped Choice.

Wrigley

The Government inspects all beef sold in supermarkets. If the Federal Inspector stamps a side of beef "USDA Choice", you know it's one of the best grades of beef you can buy.

But in addition, Wrigley's meat buyer personally examines every side of beef; and only when he is satisfied that the meat is among the very best of USDA Choice will he accept it and stamp it "Wrigley", too.

Deer season could be 'best ever'

By LEM MESEE
outdoor writer

Southern Michigan deer hunters should have the best season of the decade when deer season comes along Nov. 15-30.

Dave Arnold, state Department of Natural Resources deer specialist, said southern Michigan has "more farms, giving deer a better opportunity to keep a full stomach."

"But there seems to be a lot of corn standing in southern Michigan cornfields, and deer can easily hide. If the corn is cut, and if hunters get tracking snow, southern Michigan sportsmen should have the best deer season ever."

Last year, 15,960 bucks were taken by hunters in southern Michigan; 5,500 deer were killed by motor vehicles.

Statewide last year, more than 92,000 deer were taken by 685,000 hunters who purchased licenses. That amounts to a success rate of 13.4 per cent.

LET IT NEVER be said that ol' Lem is just a hunting and fishing nut.

It's appropriate in this column to note that the Fund for Animals will hold its animal benefit Christmas card and gift sale Saturday, Nov. 15 from noon to 6 p.m.

Place is 2841 Colony Rd., Ann Arbor, according to fund field agent Doris Dixon.

You can get "Animals Have Rights" identification tags for pets, silver creature pins, calendars and other gifts.

If the name Fund for Animals sounds familiar, it's the association of Cleveland Amory, the anti-hunting author who was a consultant for CBS' "Guns of Autumn" show. In this column, we cover both sides.

THE MICHIGAN United Conservation Clubs—the outfit suing CBS over that show—has published "The Wildlife Chef," a cookbook containing more than 250 recipes for game and fish dishes.

You can get a copy for $2 postpaid by writing MUCC at PO Box 2235, Lansing, Mich. 48911. Proceeds will enable MUCC to "carry out programs for the advancement of conservation and outdoor recreation."

The book has recipes and tips on field dressing, caring for fish and game, freezing and otherwise preparing food from forest and stream. A special section is devoted to unusual recipes for breads and beans.

MORE BASS, northern pike and perch are being planted in southeastern Michigan lakes and rivers by the DNR.

One rearing pond at Drayton Plains Nature Center produced nearly 800 largemouth bass that averaged 7.2 inches of growth for only one summer. They were planted in Oakland County's Crescent Lake.

At Camp Dearborn, a northern pike rearing pond produced 900 of the toothy predators which averaged 12 inches in a single summer's growth. One pike grew to 19.2 inches—excellent for a fish that isn't even a year old.

Most of those fish were released into the Huron River just upstream from Kent Lake. In addition, several thousand perch about four inches long were planted there.

Kent Lake, as old-timers know, was once one of the prime northern pike waters in these parts. But fishing pressure, the pike's own sloppy spawning habits and the competition of bottom-stirring carp changed that.

Maybe this new planting will bring the otherwise prolific Kent Lake back as a gamefishing spot. It remains a productive panfishing water and one of the region's most popular ice fishing places.

'Poor man's treacle'—important cure ingredient

Garlic is an herb familiar to almost everyone. The membranous skin of its bulb usually encloses from five to 15 small edible bulbs called cloves. Its flavor makes good food taste better. Many modern cooks use garlic salt, garlic powder or garlic oil. But a real gourmet still prefers fresh garlic, and it is readily available in all grocery stores. Recent scientific studies have shown that the fumes from freshly crushed garlic have the power to kill disease-producing germs. The active principal is known as crotonic aldehyde. In another report, a Russian scientist claims the essential oil of garlic contains substances which under laboratory conditions have killed bacteria, protozoa, and even yeast cells and insect eggs.

IT IS IMPORTANT to point out that what works in a test tube may not work in the human body. Nevertheless, garlic has been an important ingredient in home remedies and witch spells for many centuries.

Babylonians used it for medicinal purposes, and Greek and Roman physicians prescribed it for soldiers and slaves as well as for royalty. In ancient times, it was even used as offerings to the gods.

Garlic was mentioned in Hindu and Sanskrit writings more than 3,000 years ago, and we find it referred to in the Book of Numbers in the Old Testament.

My grandmother used to insist that garlic worn around the neck would kill cold germs, and modern science does not dispute that garlic fumes do indeed seem capable of this. (But, it may kill a few friendships as well.) The folk remedies using garlic are countless, but my favorite is the one that follows. It really seems to stop a cough and let you sleep when all else fails.

GARLIC COUGH SILENCER
In an iron skillet, toast three garlic cloves until they are brown. Crush the toasted cloves in a cup and fill the cup with scalded milk and a spoonful of butter. Stir well, and drink it all while it's still hot.

County OK's budget, 99 hospital jobs gone

Five major law enforcement programs, which were threatened by a county budget crunch, will be maintained in the Wayne County budget next year.

County commissions Nov. 6 adopted a $332,887,250 budget which continues the Consumer Protection Unit and the Organized Crime Task Force in the Prosecutor's office, plus the Sheriff's Township Patrol and Metropolitan Narcotics Squad.

The four were among the functions the County Board of Auditors had marked for elimination in its annual budget recommendations to the board of commissioners.

While the township patrol will be retained at its present 28-member strength, the other three programs are funded at about half their present levels in the new budget effective Dec. 1.

"WE DID the best we could at this time in view of the fiscal crisis," said Roscoe L. Bobo, chairman of the Board of Commissioners. "We can always make improvements later if the financial situation improves."

Drastic budget cuts were recommended in the midst of the worst county financial crisis in recent years—a crisis resulting from the general economic decline and expiration of millions in federal grants last July 1.

But as county commissioners began their budget deliberations in an atmosphere of gloom, Presiding Circuit Court Judge James N. Canham informed them that a newfound $3.2 million would be received during the next fiscal year through the court's Friend of the Court Division. This is federal money to be received through a new program requiring employed fathers of ADC children to support them, thus paring the welfare rolls.

Funds from the same source also reduced the county's anticipated budget deficit for this fiscal year from $3.1 million to $2.2 million. Money to eradicate the deficit is included in the new budget.

Also funded for next year was a special probation program for drug abusers in Detroit Re order's Court.

HOWEVER, commissioners did concur with the auditors' recommendations that the Sheriff's helicopter patrol be discontinued and that 86 of the 206 beds at Wayne County Psychiatric Hospital be phased out by March 1.

With the exception of the township patrols, other law enforcement programs were established in recent years with federal grants. The grants expired July 1 and the board of commissioners voted funds to carry the programs through the Nov. 30 end of this fiscal year.

The county auditors had recommended that the helicopter unit, consisting of six deputies and two leased helicopters, be scrapped unless the communities it serves are willing to underwrite its $201,525 annual cost. The helicopter unit began operating in early 1974 and covers a four-city test area—Wayne, Inkster, Garden City and Westland and along Edward Hines Drive.

The only new program put into the budget is a $50,000 allocation to be used for development of a senior citizens transportation pilot program.

A specially equipped and staffed bus will take senior citizens on personal trips. The $50,000 is expected to be used as the local match for federal and state grants.

THE BOARD of auditors recommended that the 86-bed Building "L" at the psychiatric hospital be closed after it was learned that state mental health funds would not be made available to help meet its $2.5 million annual operating cost. The county receives 90 percent reimbursement for the remaining 120 beds, which are located in another building.

Additional patients requiring treatment will be referred to the Detroit Psychiatric Institute or Northville State Hospital.

The Board of Commissioners earmarked $250,000 for a 90-day phase out of Building "L". Ninety-nine hospital employees will be affected. They are expected to be transferred to other county jobs as vacancies occur. Bobo said.

The board of commissioners earmarked $250,000 to be used for development of a county youth services program after federal funding of the Wayne County Juvenile Facilities Network (JFN) expires next Aug. 31.

As of that date, three JFN neighborhood youth centers—located in Inkster, Highland Park and the Detroit City Airport area—are due to be closed unless taken over by the three communities.

THE BUDGET adopted by the commissioners is $1,194,600 more than the $331,692,650 in appropriations recommended by the Board of Auditors.

The budget represents an increase of $28,210,540 over this year's projected total spending. The bulk of the increase—$24.4 million—reflects the increased cost of welfare due to unemployment in the county and will be reimbursed by the state.

Less than one-third—or $101,382,940—of the budget will be derived from county property tax receipts. The balance—$231,504,310—will come mainly from the federal and state governments, plus fees and revenues from county services.

THE BUDGET was adopted by a 22-2 vote after Commissioner Samuel A. Turner, chairman of the board's ways and means committee, urged immediate adoption to avoid the danger of a delay in mailing County tax bills. He asked that any commissioners wanting to amend the budget make their proposals within a qwwk.

Commissioners George F. Killen (D-Detroit) and Ervin A. Steiner (R-Grosse Pointe Farms) voted against the budget. Steiner said he believed the county would run into financial trouble next year because no funds were provided for contingencies.

Consumer advocacy bill splits reps on party lines

Area congressmen split along party lines as the U.S. House of Representatives gave 208-199 approval to a bill to establish a new federal consumer protection agency. The bill earlier passed the senate by a wider margin, 61-28.

Supporting it were 188 Democrats and 20 Republicans. Local backers were Reps. James O'Hara (D-Utica), whose 12th District includes the Rochester area; William D. Ford (D-Taylor), whose 15th District includes Garden City, Westland and Canton; William Brodhead (D-Detroit), whose 17th District includes Redford, Southfield and Farmington; and James Blanchard (D-Pleasant Ridge), whose 18th District includes Troy.

Opposed were 80 Democrats and 119 Republicans. Among them were Reps. William Broomfield (R-Birmingham), whose 19th District includes the Bloomfield area; and Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor), whose 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth.

BROOMFIELD called the consumer protection agency unnecessary. "Despite its impressive title, this legislation would do little or nothing to aid consumers. Its underlying assumption—that a massive new federal bureaucracy will handle consumer problems better than existing agencies—is simply off base," he said.

Rather, the agency will "slow down the wheels of government, discouraging many businesses from offering new goods and services to the public," Broomfield said.

"There are already 39 federal agencies (with) consumer complaint contacts. Undeniably, these regulatory agencies could and should be more responsive to the public."

"But this can best be accomplished by attacking the problem directly, agency by agency, not by adding to our already burgeoning federal bureaucracy at a cost of some $10 billion to $20 billion a year."

BRODHEAD INSISTED that "it's not a new regulatory agency. It has no regulatory powers whatsoever."

Rather, Brodhead said, it's a kind of ombudsman to represent consumers before other government agencies. "Often in proceedings before the Federal Trade Commission, the Federal Power Commission or the Interstate Commerce Commission, we have only businessmen on both sides of the argument. This will give consumers a voice," he said.

Brodhead said the new agency would be more effective by bringing other consumer offices under its wing—the president's consumer advisor, the consumer inquiries office of the Food and Drug Administration; the consumer liaison division of the Federal Aviation Administration; and other such offices in the agriculture, commerce, HUD and transportation offices.

Consumer lawyer Ralph Nader was in the house gallery when the bill passed, and he praised the house for "overcoming the obstruction and lobbying of big business."

Washington sources expect President Ford may veto the bill. The House vote shows there is less than the two-thirds majority necessary to override a veto.

Suburbs voted for 'lib'—or was it just quality?

The newspapers call it the women's movement. The critics seek to diminish it by the excessively cute "women's lib." The advocates call it a drive for simple equality.

Regardless of the name, the congeries of ideas and action represented by the movement of women into the mainstream of social equality and political participation certainly constitute one of the most profoundly revolutionary developments of our times.

And it's a real development, not idle chatter. For the biggest news story coming out of last week's local elections was not who won and who lost, but rather the remarkably successful performance of suburban women running for election into the formerly male preserve of local government.

OUT OF 12 women who ran for election in these suburbs, only two lost. And there are now three communities in this area who have more than the single token woman on the city council.

In Plymouth, history was made when Mary Childs moved up from a seat on the planning commission to join Beverly McAninch as members of the city council. Mrs. McAninch also ran as the incumbent mayor.

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Orchard Lake also boasts two women on the city council, as Frances Y. Gadd was re-elected and was the top vote getter. A strong prospect to become the community's next mayor, Mrs. Gadd will have as a colleague on council Katherine M. Baker.

Westland also will have two women on city council, as the virtually unbeatable Justine Barns led the vote-getters, only to be followed as number two by Gail McKnight. Mrs. Barns does not feel two women sitting on council will in itself make anything different. "I look on the council as seven members, not five men and two women. I will not vote as part of any team. If I agree with the rest of the council, then fine. But if I disagree, it will be on the basis of issues and not what the rest of the council is doing," says Mrs. Barns.

ONE OF THE few women defeated in her election bid was Mary Markowicz, who was the loser in Garden City's race for mayor by only 91 votes. Geraldine Kiessel, previously a member of the commission which wrote the city's new charter, was elected to city council, finishing as the number two vote getter.

In Rochester, Frances A. Weaver won a four-year seat on the city council by one vote. She was the only successful council candidate who opposed a local amendment to allow alcohol to be served at the community house, and she has been a spectator at most council meetings for the past several years.

In a real upset, Lillian Jaffee pushed her way to membership on the Southfield city council. How did she lead all candidates? "I worked hard. I door-knocked. I went to coffees. I studied and I learned the issues. I hope to be able to work with all the people in Southfield as I promised. This was definitely a people's election."

In Farmington Hills, Joanne Smith found her past political disappointment rectified. Two years ago she ran for the city council, but lost; then when Margaret Shaeffer resigned her council seat to become district judge, the expectation of appointment was not fulfilled. This year, however, Mrs. Smith led the ticket.

THE WOMEN who won election this year did not campaign as "women's libbers." They ran as people, campaigning hard, learning the issues, organizing their campaign workers, turning out the votes. So do men.

They differ politically, ranging from left to right to center on the political spectrum. So do men.

They ran because they were concerned about their community and wanted to do something about it. So do men.

In short, these successful women entered the political process on their own merits and won on their own efforts. They are living evidence that the women's movement has become much more than cocktail party talk, and in their victories they constitute the cutting edge of a long-awaited and much-needed movement toward equality in our country.

Congratulations.

'Pick Your Own' fruit—a sign of bad times

The notion that we had come full circle agriculturally first dawned on me one June Saturday as a farmer—a relative of a relative by marriage—and I drove the back roads of Berrien and Cass counties to a bluegill lake.

"He used to grow 50 acres of strawberries, but he don't no more ... he used to be a big producer, but he don't no more," said the farmer, gesturing with his thumb at his old friends' places.

Come to think of it, my own companion wasn't working his farm except for the vegetable garden. He'd inherited the farm, so it was paid for; his fishing rod, shotgun and deer rifle were paid for; he'd found a chew was cheaper than a cigarette. How come these farmers had quit?

"Can't afford to farm," he answered. "Costs too high. Damn government. Minimum wage for the fruit pickers, all the housing and benefits you gotta give 'em, you can't sell your fruit for enough to make any money. So we're waitin' for the subdividers." Many seemed able to afford the wait.

THE FRUIT PICKERS who were now unemployed hadn't been with Michigan agriculture forever. Time was when most city workers had a relative—parents, brothers, uncles—back on the farm.

Summer vacation was a trip to the farm. Kids rode farm horses instead of going to the riding stable; kids splashed in the deep holes that formed in the bends of rivers instead of going to a civic pool or park beach; and kids picked fruit.

Times changed. Families dispersed. Child labor laws came on the scene, so the farmer couldn't even hire kids to do what his nieces and nephews used to do. Migrant labor came from Texas and Alabama. Then came more laws.

The laws contributed greatly, not to the migrants' welfare but to pricing their labor right out of the market. Another way of looking at it is to say the laws lowered the price of automation. Cukes and green beans are mechanically picked today. The farmers who were into strawberries, however, just went bluegill fishing.

Other farmers came up with a gimmick. They put up signs saying "Pick Your Own." When newspaper and television reporters came by, they said picking your own vegetables and fruit meant you could cut your grocery bills by half, get absolutely fresh produce and have family fun in the fresh air.

We had come full circle—almost.

MEANWHILE, BACK in the cities, the unemployment and welfare rolls are multiplying. The fruit pickers had been lured to Michigan by jobs and wages and were being kept here by good welfare payments.

Had we actually hurt the fruit pickers more than we had helped them with minimum wage laws, housing laws, compensation benefits? How could that possibly be? It says right here in my old economics text that the chief purpose of minimum wage legislation is "the abolition of poverty."

It just can't be that that liberal senator from Dearborn who masqueraded as a pickle picker was wrong! It can't be that the sociologists and humanitarians concerned with the silent, disadvantaged minority were wrong! There must be a fascist or chamber of commerce plot somewhere!!

Meanwhile, the signs are popping up: "Pick Your Own." And the suburban station wagons pull up.

Hard-won freedoms lost to taxes

Two hundred years ago, 56 men signed a document which they called the Declaration of Independence.

They gave us a free America, but they paid a price.

•Five of these signers were captured by the British as traitors and were tortured before they died.

•Two lost their sons in the Revolutionary War.

•Another two had sons captured.

•Nine of the 56 fought in and died from wounds of the hardships of the Revolutionary War.

•Carter Braxton of Virginia, a wealthy planter and trader, saw his ships swept from the seas by the British Navy. He sold his home and properties to pay his debts. He died in rags.

•Thomas McKean was so hounded by the British that he was forced to move his family almost constantly. He served in the Congress without pay, and his family was kept in hiding. His possessions were taken from him, and poverty was his reward.

•Vandals, soldiers, or both, looted the properties of Ellery, Clymer, Hall, Walton, Gwinnett, Heyward, Rutledge and Middleton.

•At the battle of Yorktown, Thomas Nelson saw his home destroyed in the fighting. He died bankrupt.

•John Hart was driven from his wife's bedside as she was dying. Their 13 children fled for their lives. His fields and gristmill were laid waste. For more than a year he lived in forests and caves, returning after the war to find his wife dead, his children gone. A few weeks later, he died from exhaustion and a broken heart.

•Morris and Livingston suffered similar fates.

THESE WERE no wild-eyed rabble-rousing ruffians. They were soft-spoken men of means and education. They had security, but they valued liberty more.

Was all this in vain?

Have we, in 200 years, allowed this land to regress into something as bad as that which these men endured hardship to correct?

Our government now takes 44 per cent of the national income of all Americans. This includes federal, state and local government.

This means that June 14, 1975, was a memorable day. On that day, Americans began working for themselves. Prior to that time, they had been working for their government!

State looks to accounting to cover its big deficit

The Michigan Citizens Lobby must feel like the salesman who tried to peddle a man an air conditioner the day before the wind blew down his house.

MCL is the group which in 1974 brought us elimination of the sales tax on food and drugs, an elimination that the fellows in Lansing replaced with an income tax increase. But that's OK because the income tax is fairer than the sales tax.

A few weeks ago, MCL was back, this time with a campaign to pare income taxes for the poor and middle class folks and make it up by socking it to those rich guys who make $20,000 or more.

NO SOONER had MCL uncorked its new one than the Milliken administration revealed the state was headed for a $298 million deficit—nearly 10 per cent—unless expenses are cut and some bookkeeping sleight-of-hand employed.

State finances are enormously complex, but at the risk of oversimplifying, the problems can be boiled down to two: (1) Income tax revenue fluctuates enormously during a recession, especially the tax on corporate income; (2) welfare soars as workers exhaust their unemployment benefits.

MCL was right about one thing: Consumption taxes are terribly unfair in economic theory. But they do have the dandy quality of producing stable revenues. Corporations can slash bonuses and dividends, but families still have to buy hamburger and aspirin.

WHAT'S THE WAY out of the state budget dilemma?

Raise taxes? Only the teachers' lobby favors that.

Go back to more sales taxes? They're regressive; MCL no like.

Cut state spending? Tell that to the college students, the Welfare Rights organizers, the teachers, the folks who voted the veterans bonuses, the highway users, the environmental buffs. Virtually all of us benefit from state spending.

Run a deficit? That's a constitutional no-no.

is no longer received by them to be used as they individually see fit. It is taken from them by their government. Some of it is turned back in certain services which they may not want or need, often at high costs, and much is wasted or given to others here and abroad.

The bicentennial year should be a year of reflection.

Have our people given up their freedom and liberty to bureaucracy?

Our Constitution leaves in the hands of the people the decision as to the course of our ship of state. If their voices aren't heard, the country is rudderless.

Besides, if you let a politician run a deficit in a recession year, he'll run one in a good year, too. Ask your congressman. Ask Nelson Rockefeller, John V. Lindsay, Hugh Carey and Abe Beame.

What's going to happen is that the legislature will beat up on Gov. Milliken and his budget director, Dr. Gerald Miller, for not predicting the deficit sooner. There will be a great thrash about more sophisticated economic indicators, faster fiscal prophecies and the like.

The future of our state services and our pocketbooks depends on snazzier accounting. That's fine—IF they can do it.

Sense And Nonsense

A COINCIDENCE? The Fund for Animals, an anti-hunting group, has scheduled a Christmas card and gift sale for Saturday—which happens to be the opening day of rifle season for deer.

THE CAMPER in the Rifle River Recreation Area was a little oiled up, as they say so politely, and was on his way to the restroom early one fall morning. He met what has been variously described as "a small bear" and "a very large raccoon."

Letting out a yelp, the camper turned tail and ran into the woods. Soon he was lost. Other campers heard his shouts for help and rescued him.

When daylight arrived, all that remained of his camp was the story. Long before dawn, the well-oiled camper had packed his gear and gone home.

A GUY WE know got tired of these ornery cusses who park in the fire lanes of supermarket lots, right under the "No Parking" signs. So he's walking across the hoods of their cars, taking care to twist the ball of his foot slightly so the grit sands the paint job.

'Big money' influence to be reduced

Editor:

The Oct. 16 and 23 editorials on Michigan's new political reform law contained a few misconceptions which should be corrected.

First, rather than favoring incumbents, the law will give all candidates a fair chance at election by reducing the influence of "big money" in campaigns. The limits on individual contributions are reasonable: $1,700 for candidates for governor, $450 for candidates for state senator and $250 for candidates for state representative.

Contrary to the Observation Point view, few citizens before or after the passage of the new law could afford the luxury of "blowing a grand or two on a new, fresh face." What the law will do is reduce the amount of influence a few individuals can have on candidates.

In the same way, the campaign expenditure limits will help ensure a fair chance for all candidates. Observation Point suggests these limits are too high, but studies have shown that if the limits are set too low, incumbents would have a distinct advantage.

The financial declaration provisions of the new law are also widely misunderstood. The law does not require public officials to bare their financial souls—instead, only financial interests of over $1,000 must be reported, with no dollar figures required.

As for reporting of family finances, the law requires a statement of financial interest only from family members living with or dependent upon the public official. Eliminating this provision would open up a major loophole in the law.

The idea that the new law will create a vast bureaucracy and endless paperwork also does not hold up. The law simplifies reporting procedures by requiring candidates to have only one official committee which files two pre-election campaign statements and one post-election report. Only one off-year campaign statement is required. Financial declaration statements will be filed annually.

Of course, paperwork is required, but this has always been true in elections, and it is for a good purpose—giving citizens valuable information with which to evaluate candidates.

As a public official myself, I sincerely do not feel that our new political reform law will result in mass resignations. I personally feel the reporting requirements are not burdensome and will give me an opportunity to show I deserve public trust.

It is easy—and in a certain sense fashionable—to be cynical about political reform. The new law is not perfect and will require changes, but it represents a significant achievement and real progress.

The public interest citizens group, Common Cause, which is certainly not an "incumbents lobby," has called it "the toughest reform legislation ever passed in the United States." I call on Observer and Eccentric readers to check the facts on the new law, and then help to make it work for a better government in Michigan.

JOHN F. MARKES, State Representative, 36th District

EDITOR'S NOTE: Markes was prime sponsor of the political reform law in the House.

Whose influence is reduced?

Editor:

This letter is in reply to Philip Power's column of Oct. 23 concerning the political reform law backed by Common Cause. It reflects my personal views and not those of Common Cause.

Previously, there were no effective limits on campaign spending for state office, so the new limits could not have an adverse effect on the infusion of "fresh, independent, non-incumbent candidates" into the political process.

His principal objection seems to be the limits on individual contributions. Surely, finding 588 individuals willing to contribute $1,700 to a gubernatorial candidate will not be difficult. It would be even less difficult to find a thousand people willing to give $1,000 or 10,000 willing to give $100 each.

A candidate for state senator, instead of raising $450 from each of 66 individuals, could raise $100 each from 300 persons. Someone running for state representative could raise $75 each from 200 contributors.

If he objects to an officeholder trading "his office for campaign contributions from favor seekers," he should welcome a reduction in the importance of money in political campaigns. The low contribution limits work to produce candidates with relatively broad support.

He asks, "Where are you going to find 60 people to pony up the $250 limit for a state representative race unless the candidate is already an incumbent?" But where did you find such people in the past? Obviously, you did not. Political history reveals a slow turnover in the State Legislature. This would suggest incumbency was a strong advantage. It certainly does not suggest there were many citizens who felt "concerned about politics" and were "willing to blow a grand or two on a new, fresh face."

The general tenor of his column leads me to believe his real objection is not explicitly stated. He seems to be concerned that the influence of community leaders will be reduced.

The low contribution limits and the provision requiring disclosure of contributions will reduce the willingness of a small businessman to support a candidate. That is the crux of the matter, is it not?

This summer 1975 Common Cause Report from Michigan lists several proposed changes which the organization supports. One change will limit the transferability of funds between an organization and its sub-units. This will reduce party dominance.

To meet some of the objections of the ACLU, it is proposed that the contribution reporting floor should be raised to protect the anonymity of small contributors. Other changes are: shortening the list of public officials required to file financial disclosure statements and eliminating the constraints preventing non-profit corporations from contributing to ballot propositions.

Generic drug bill backed by 9 reps

A bill that would allow pharmacists to substitute a generic drug without the prescription purchaser's specific request has been passed by the State House of Representatives, 75-24, and sent to the Senate.

Local representatives backed it 9-1 with two not voting.

Rep. Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park), who supported it, called it a follow-up measure to a law passed last year which allowed consumers to ask a druggist to substitute a generic drug for a particular brand of drug except when the doctor specified the prescription be dispensed only as written.

Rep. Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti), whose district includes most of Plymouth, voted against the bill because "it permits the druggist to make the exchange without notifying anyone."

Supporting the bill besides Forbes were Reps. John Bennett (D-Redford), Thomas Brown (D-Westland), Robert Geake (R-Northville), John Markes (D-Westland), W.V. Brotherton (R-Farmington), Mel Larsen (R-Oxford), Ruth McNamara (R-Birmingham) and Sal Rocca (D-Sterling Heights).

Not voting were Reps. William Keith (D-Garden City) and James Defebaugh (R-Birmingham).

Lutheran concert set

The Detroit Lutheran Singers, directed by Eric Freudigman and accompanied by Frank Kuhlmann, will present a concert of sacred choral music Sunday, Nov. 16 at 3:30 p.m. in Grace Lutheran Church, Grand River and Beech Daly.

The program will include Schubert's "Mass in G" and compositions by Schultz, Pachelbel, Byrd and Britten. Local members include Joyce and Matthew Schack, Joyce Bigelow, Barbara Teachout and Darlene Hutchinson of Livonia, Judith Reger and Sylvia Geisler of Plymouth and Ken Winkelman of Garden City. St. John Lutheran Church, 4950 Oakman near West Chicago, Detroit, and at 7:30 p.m. in St. Paul Lutheran Church, 375 Lothrop, Grosse Pointe Farms.

All concerts are free. An offering will be taken.

Area senators back permits for dogs on black bear hunts

Area state senators voted 3-1 in favor as the state Senate gave 26-7 passage to a bill requiring hunters to get permits before using dogs to hunt black bear. It goes to the governor for his signature.

Voting yes were Sens. Donald Bishop (R-Rochester), William Faust (D-Westland), and Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth).

Opposed was Sen. Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park). Not voting was Sen. Bill Huffman (D-Madison Heights), whose district includes part of Troy.

“THE ISSUE was that some hunters were turning dogs loose by the dozens to track down bear,” said Bishop, whose district includes Birmingham, West Bloomfield and part of Troy.

“When I was assured that the bill would return bear tracking to the sport it was meant to be, it was all right. I don’t think we should proscribe this (tracking with dogs) entirely.”

The bill requires bear hunters who want to use dogs to get a $2 permit from the Department of Natural Resources.

The dogs must be immunized, and a pack is limited to six dogs. No more than two packs may be used on the trail of the same bear. The bill was aimed at preventing hunters from collecting large packs of stray dogs and then abandoning them in the wilds after the hunt.

COOPER, whose district includes Southfield and Farmington, voted against the bill because he says bear hunting “is a whole phenomenon that I think is an open question. If there is a species of animal which has to be cut down, we can proceed” to hunt.

“But nobody gave any justification that there are too many bears in this state. Nobody had any facts on the number of bears there are, except that someone had a guess of 15,000. It’s not a sport to have a bear run up a tree and be shot at.

“I resent the unfettered position that anyone can hunt anything that isn’t human,” Cooper said.

The DNR strongly opposed an amendment that would have banned use of dogs entirely in bear hunting. The DNR reported that last year 508 bears were killed in the upper peninsula and 79 in the lower, with an estimated 30 to 40 per cent by the use of dogs. The DNR’s position is that hunting with dogs is “good sport and doesn’t cut into the bear population.”

Madonna deaf program lecture, benefit planned

“Interpreting for Deaf and Blind Persons” will be discussed at an open lecture, Tuesday, Nov. 18 at 6:30 p.m. in the Science Lecture Hall at Madonna College, Livonia.

Jointly sponsored by Madonna College and the National Interpreter Training Consortium, guest speaker will be Art Roehrig of Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C. The lecture will include a practical session with Roehrig and Ken Rust, instructor of Introduction to Interpreting at Madonna.

The free lecture is open to both the hearing and deaf.

A benefit brunch will be served at Madonna College Sunday, Nov. 23, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., to raise funds for deaf students enrolled in the college Interpreting for the Deaf Program.

Explaining the need for scholarship funds, Sr. Mary Francilene, Madonna Dean said, “Other sources of tuition aid are not available to some of our adult deaf students, and in some cases we have more than one person in a family enrolled.”

The Madonna program in Interpreting for the Deaf began this year and has both deaf and hearing students working toward certificates of achievement, associate, or bachelor’s degrees.

The brunch, which is open to the public, will be served in the Residence Hall dining room on Madonna Court, off Levan north of Schoolcraft. Fruit, scrambled eggs, sausages, baked chicken, hamburgers, hot rolls and donuts, and a choice of beverages will be served for a donation of $3 for adults and $1.75 for children under 10 years of age. Reservations are not necessary.

The Red Cross southeastern Michigan regional blood center will become the only supplier of blood and blood products in the five county area beginning Dec. 1.

The region’s secondary supplier, Michigan Community Blood Center, will cease operations in metropolitan Detroit.

Combining the technical and donor recruitment skills of the Red Cross with the outstanding support of volunteer blood donors, Red Cross is confident that all patient blood needs will be met, said Dr. A. William Shafer, director of the blood center.

“Realizing Red Cross is only a vehicle by which blood is collected, processed and distributed, the burden of providing blood and blood products rests upon the community,” Dr. Shafer said.

Individuals between the ages of 17 through 65 may call the Red Cross office nearest them for an appointment to donate.

The Livonia donor center is located at 32316 Five Mile. It is open Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 2-8 p.m., on Tuesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Booklet exposes mail fraud

Mail order swindlers are using current economic conditions to swindle people through a variety of bogus schemes for work-at-home opportunities, correspondence schools and even chain letters, the U. S. Postal Service charges.

To help consumers avoid being cheated, the postal service has published a booklet called “Mail Fraud Laws.”

A free copy may be obtained by writing Consumer Information, Dept. 54, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

The booklet says the promise of an “exciting, high-paying job” is the usual lure of the fake correspondence school.

An endless chain-referral plan is a means of selling products for the home at generally exorbitant prices on the grounds that the item will cost the homeowner nothing because, by referring other people to the seller, he can earn enough referral commissions to pay the full cost of his purchase.

The booklet advises consumers who believe mail fraud exists to keep all letters, envelopes and other evidence related to the questionable scheme.

ERA

The debate goes on as Schoolcraft women's center makes a new attempt to clarify some issues

BY SHERRY KAHAN

"The effects of the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment will be severe, disastrous and harmful to women," claimed Mrs. Elaine Donnelly in a recent debate on ERA at Schoolcraft College sponsored by the women's resource center.

"ERA will protect men and women equally," returned Audrey Perry. "It will require federal, state and local governments to treat each person as an individual."

Mrs. Donnelly is Michigan chairman of the Anti-ERA Committee. Mrs. Perry is chairman of the Monroe County Republican Party and active in feminist causes.

Sitting in for Mrs. Perry after she had to leave was Vicki Toensing, research attorney for the Michigan Court of Appeals, who participated in the question and answer session.

THAT THESE SPEAKERS held for two hours the full attention of 106 women indicated that the ERA pot still is boiling, despite the Michigan legislature's approving vote given in 1972.

Anti-ERA forces, such as those led by Mrs. Donnelly, are saying the approval should be rescinded. Never, say the pro-ERA women.

"ERA has nothing to do with equal pay for equal work," maintained Mrs. Donnelly. "There are already laws on this, as well as laws about equality in credit, education and opportunity. A new law won't give women anything they don't already have."

Ms. Toensing retorted that "they forgot two groups" when the Constitution was written a couple of hundred years ago.

"Later they put in the blacks," she added. "Now it's time to put in women. I cannot see how ERA will take away benefits from women when it will extend benefits to all people."

WHILE MRS. DONNELLY is happy to have equality in credit and pay, she was concerned that legislation that has traditionally protected women would go by the board if ERA becomes the law of the land.

"ERA will outlaw laws that say a husband must support his wife and family," she declared. "If women do not have this right, how can they make long-term commitment to preserving the stability of the family?"

Ms. Toensing indicated her belief that such protection is not always certain today.

"A man can go to California and a woman would have to go there, too, in order to collect support money," she said.

Mrs. Perry observed that children today are usually placed with their mothers after a divorce.

"Alimony or support is given by a judge based on economic needs," she maintained. "The support is based on the needs of the children. The amendment would ban a state from imposing a greater liability on one spouse than on the other. Support obligations would be defined in regard to each spouse."

ANOTHER KIND of protection was also introduced at this point, on-the-job protection for women.

Mrs. Perry felt that laws to protect a woman at work by defining the kinds of jobs they could do and the weight they could carry were often used to produce reverse discrimination. Men used these laws as an excuse not to hire women.

"These protective laws were put in codes by women after a lot of hard work," said Mrs. Donnelly. "Employers were making women carry too heavy a load. But under ERA this protection will no longer be available. If a woman doesn't do what she is told to, she will be fired. Women are physically different from men and need these kinds of protection."

Two popular issues raised by anti-ERA militants were thrashed about by the debaters. They concerned the draft and the question of co-educational toilets.

"Yes, if Congress declared a crisis and said people were eligible for the draft, women could be drafted," said Mrs. Perry. "But who can say they love a daughter more than other parents love their son?"

Mrs. Donnelly, who decried the emotionalism raised on the draft issue, said that if ERA is passed, "Congress would not have the choice to exempt women from the draft even if 80 percent of the women in the country stormed into their building."

Mrs. Donnelly, in an interview, added that she was for equality of sacrifice during a crisis but not the same sacrifice.

"In World War II, women sacrificed for the war but it was not the same as the men's sacrifice," she said. "Until the majority of people in the country feel that it is appropriate to demand equality of sacrifice, we shouldn't have it."

She reiterated: "Men and women are different."

BUT THEIR PRIVACY is guaranteed by the Constitution, pointed out Mrs. Perry.

"ERA guarantees equality not sameness," she stated. The states have power to require the separation of the sexes in sleeping quarters and toilet facilities. Every public place has to provide a place for both sexes."

"I don't want to alarm anyone," interjected Mrs. Donnelly, "but a lot of people would like to get in the private areas of the other sex."

She added: "Under ERA you can't predict what will happen."

Mrs. Perry was hopeful that "ERA will have little effect on athletics," referring to the fact that guidelines on sports in public schools have already been published under Title IX by the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

Mrs. Donnelly countered with the fact that in Pennsylvania, which has a state ERA, a court ruled that girls should compete as equals against boys, and men against women.

"Not even Title IX goes that far," she said. "Female athletes ought to be able to compete against each other as women instead of being forced to play on a sexually-integrated team."

AUDREY PERRY

Florynce Kennedy's visit— 'it could have been great'

By MARGARET MILLER

There's got to be a special place for the University of Michigan-Dearborn campus in the memory of feminist lawyer Florynce Kennedy.

Her visit last week involved strong feminist and civil rights ideas expressed in stronger language and a few sharply-worded parodies.

These evoked boos and catcalls from a few white male students on the fringes of the group that gathered to hear her.

And that action led to fast counter-verbage from the 59-year-old speaker, who called herself "offensive and proud of it, because people oppressed are supposed to be offensive."

"I've been to 370 schools, and this is the first campus where there has been persistent hissing and booing at satirical parody," she told her audience.

"It doesn't matter to me—I am capable of walking out and they had better have my check in New York."

"But it is an insult to the people here interested in feminism and what a nigger has to say."

AND THOSE WORDS somehow set the tone of the speech, although Ms. Kennedy made some powerful points in her inimitable style.

Larry Melton of Redford Township expressed one student's post-Kennedy viewpoint. "I have always believed in the causes she's fighting for, but I think she was offensive and insulted the campus," he said.

A couple of other male students suggested her fee was money badly spent by the college's Office of Student Life.

But from women students came the idea that the hecklers caused them to be "cheated."

"I really respected her," said Denise Farrugia of Taylor. "We need more people who will speak out as she does. But I felt somehow cheated, because she talked so long to get the heckling kids off her back that she didn't have time to speak to the issues."

THREE WOMEN STUDENTS, Lynn Crawford and Robin Westby of Dearborn and Shirley Blochman of Miami, Fla., suggested that "a racist and sexist element on the campus was challenged by her mere presence."

But they also agreed that because of Ms. Kennedy's visit "our fellow students are forced to confront social and political realities they would rather ignore."

Judy Phair, of the University relations office, said it was the first time in her memory that kind of hissing had occurred and "you got the impression some had come to heckle."

"I'm glad she put them in their place," Ms. Phair added, "but I somehow wish it hadn't taken her so long to do it."

BILL SHADE, director of the campus office of veteran affairs, had a similar reaction.

"I've had the opportunity to hear Florynce Kennedy at New York University," he said, "and I know she had a lot to say but somehow her emotional self took over before she could say much of it."

"It could have been a really fine experience. But what it did was serve to bring to mind the extent to which we still are so many poles apart. And that's too bad."

Shade said he was sure the students who joined a rap session preceding the speech had a good experience. "and I had hoped the points she would make later would go beyond what she said then. But it didn't really work out that way."

BUT ALL THE PROBLEMS didn't keep this champion of women's rights from making some points clear.

One involved the Equal Rights Amendment and its defeat in New York and New Jersey referendum votes.

"The media told us out on that," she said. "It practically ignored the existence of the referendum until after the voting, and then it called the defeat a major setback."

"That's like pulling a curtain in front of you when a truck is coming at you, and then when it hits saying, 'Look, you just got hit.'"

She suggested that now women "won't sit back and rest."

MS. KENNEDY commented that her life as a fighter probably had its origins in the fact that "I was lucky—my parents did not teach us to bow to authority and they made us feel precious and not just some more pick-aninny niggers."

She also urged women and blacks to "challenge the most powerful interests by dealing with the most powerful oppressor."

"Every institution that damages you can be damaged," she declared, "but direct your indignation where it really matters."

Directing strong indignation toward the church, she said she objects to its anti-abortion stand as a sample of "oppression because it keeps you from controlling your life."

"Ms. Kennedy is a graduate of the Columbia University law school and active in both the civil rights and women's movements since the 1950s. She is a co-founder of the National Organization for Women and Founder of the Feminist Party."

Florynce Kennedy on the campus of University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Santa is coming Saturday

Santa Claus will be making his first stop in Livonia when he is welcomed by a mini-parade at noon, Saturday, Nov. 15, at Wonderland Center, Plymouth Road at Middle Belt. The parade will start at 11:30 a.m. and will be led by the award-winning majorettes, ages five through 14, from the Livonia-Redford Dad's Club of St. Robert's Church. A marching band will follow them.

Mrs. Barbara Kurtz calls her work dimensional art, combining paper, sculpture and repousse techniques. She will exhibit it in Rosedale School, Livonia, during the "Grandma's Attic" arts and crafts show Nov. 15. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Indian artist to join Rosedale art show

Memories of a childhood spent on an Indian reservation in Ontario are reflected in the works of art to be exhibited by Barbara Kurtz Saturday, Nov. 15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Rosedale Elementary School, 9825 Cranston, Livonia.

Ms. Kurtz, whose works are a combination of three separate arts (paper, sculpture and repousse), is a Delaware Indian who was raised on the Muncie Indian Reservation in southern Ontario.

She will join 40 artists and craftsmen who will be displaying their work at the "Grandma's Attic" arts and crafts show sponsored by the Family Faculty of Rosedale School, formerly a PTA group.

SCHEDULED AS exhibitors are a wood worker, a glass blower, an oil painter and specialists in Indian jewelry and graphics.

Lanie Anderson will be on hand to lecture on plants at the plant booth. There will be a children's workshop where youngsters can make Christmas ornaments and a Santa's secret workshop where they can shop.

Grandma's Trunk will hold the kind of treasures usually found at garage sales. A lunch room, a bake sale and children's cartoons are also planned.

A picture of wild ducks against a snowy background is one of the three-dimensional scenes Ms. Kurtz will bring with her to the show. She also has many corn pictures in which the sunset, the Indian and the background are all made from corn. These, too, are three-dimensional.

"I have always liked the outdoors," she said. "Making pictures I draw on the things I saw at the reservation. I try to make everything look natural."

MS. KURTZ has recently been working on a project for the Canadian government. It involves making copies of aprons worn by Indians in a period before the arrival of Columbus in America.

The Canadian government has one of these pre-Columbian aprons, but wished to have copies made to display in exhibits of Indian work.

"The government wanted people to see these aprons as they looked at the time they were worn," she said.

Ladywood has open house

Ladywood High School, an all-girls school, will host an open house for prospective students Sunday, Nov. 16, 1-4 p.m.

Students and parents are welcome to take the opportunity to enjoy the campus, browse through classroom facilities and speak to teachers and students who will be available. The invitation is open to any girl currently in the eighth grade or interested in a transfer to Ladywood.

Kepler to substitute

A switch in scheduling by the Livonia Town Hall will bring Phyllis Kepler to Livonia on Wednesday, Nov. 19, substituting for film critic Rex Reed.

Reed will make his Town Hall appearance on March 17, the slot originally set for Mrs. Kepler.

The change became necessary when the wire service for which Reed works asked him to go to Tehran, Iran, to cover a film festival.

Mrs. Kepler will describe the adventures that have befallen her as she made her way through 5,000 miles of South America from Bolivia to Venezuela, and 12,000 miles from Europe to Asia following the route taken by Marco Polo.

Other trips have taken her to Afghanistan, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Rumania and Korea.

PHYLLIS KEPLER

Her lecture will begin at 10:30 a.m. in the Mai Kai theater.

Only season tickets are sold for the Town Hall series. However, it is possible to purchase a ticket at $5.25 for the celebrity luncheon to follow in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

To obtain a ticket contact Mrs. Arthur Palarchio, 18275 Eldenberry.

Family can't solve all its own problems

BY SHERRY KAHAN

"Society promotes many problems today that can't be solved in a family situation," said Patricia Key from her desk in Faith Lutheran Church, Livonia, where she works as a counselor.

"People are more willing to admit now that they need help from an outside source. This may be because they are more transient, and don't always have a friend or relative close by to whom they can turn. You sometimes have to have someone to talk to."

Mrs. Key, who is affiliated with the Lutheran Children's Friend Society, counsels at the Livonia church one day a week.

"I think it is very necessary for the church to be involved in giving people counseling help," said the Rev. Roger Schlee, pastor of Faith Lutheran. "We've seen an increase in family problems in the last few years because of pressures of work, school or the economy."

"We need someone to give consistent, regular counseling which is something the pastors do not always have time to do."

THE SERVICE is not just for members of the church, Mrs. Key pointed out. It is available to families teenagers, or people with problems such as child abuse, alcoholism, drugs or pregnancy problems. Fees are on a sliding scale based on monthly income.

"Our clients have to decide what they want to work on," she explained. "We make a verbal contract with them about what to do that day. Then at the end of the session they write down what, if any, progress they've made, and if they haven't made any, why not."

"If they decide we can work together, then we talk about the priorities we will work on first."

In the case of problem pregnancies, for example, Mrs. Key will help the woman sort out what she might want to do, "not what I want to do."

"Usually in this work we need a few exploratory visits," she said. "A family may bring in one of its members whom they think is the only problem. But after a few visits it turns out there are a lot more problems than the one that brought them in."

"In the case of child abuse it is necessary to find out what is making the abuser angry enough to abuse the child. Usually the child's behavior is reminding them of something they can't tolerate."

"The clients who admit they are abusers are mothers. It seems more difficult for men in general to confess they need outside help. Our culture tells them to take care of their own concerns."

MRS. KEY noted that the biggest problem in families today is the lack of respect for each other.

"Parents talk down to their children," she said. "They don't realize they are acting this way. But it interferes with communication. If the family members don't respect each other, they don't bother to talk to each other."

She finds one of the best parts of her job is "seeing people begin to feel confident about themselves."

She added: "Building a good self-image is not new. It is one of the chief aims of social work today. You are not judging them. You're just there to help them deal more effectively with what bothers them."

Clients often believe that because someone does not treat them right, it reflects on them personally, that it means something is wrong with them."

"BUT SOME people take on themselves all the responsibility for what happens," she noted. "If things don't happen right they feel they must be some kind of bad guy. As you talk to them you try to help them see that the lack is not always in them."

"I accept people as they are and help them go where they want to go. I am leading the way but am not setting the goals. The person is."

Unity sets seminar Nov. 15

REV. DALE F. BATESOLE

The Rev. Dale F. Batesole will lead a day-long seminar on "The Spiritual Dimension of Psycho-Cybernetics" on Saturday, Nov. 15 beginning at 9 a.m. in Unity of Livonia, 26880 Five Mile.

The visit of the teacher and lecturer, minister of the Unity church of Sedona, Ariz., also will include a public lecture Friday, Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

The Friday talk, explaining the purpose of the seminar, will be free and an offering will be taken. The seminar price is $25 for married couples, $15 for individuals and $10 for students.

The Rev. Gene Sorenson, Unity minister, said Rev. Batesole would present a scientific technique for prayer, based on the book, "Psycho-Cybernetics," by Dr. Maxwell Maltz.

"He will explain how the mind works and will demonstrate how each individual can attune his mind to God in a perfect union of prayer," the local pastor added.

"Visual aid charts will be used in this presentation, which will simplify the study and application of this ordinarily-complex subject."

"Each person in attendance will receive study guides and supplementary class material to assist him in using this scientific prayer technique for enriching life at every level."

Rev. Batesole is founder of the Fillmore Foundation and co-founder of the Forsyth School in St. Louis, Mo. The latter teaches the principles of psycho-cybernetics to children beginning with age three.

Lectures deal with God's will

Sam E. Stone, dean of the Cincinnati Christian Seminary, will visit the South Redford Church of Christ, 26505

West Chicago, from Sunday, Nov. 16 through Tuesday, Nov. 18 for a series of talks on the subject "Knowing God's Will."

istry at Central Christian College in Missouri and journalism at the Cincinnati school before being named dean.

Rev. Murphy new pastor at Calvary

The Rev. Lloyd J. Murphy is the new pastor of Calvary Missionary Church, located at 29850 West Six Mile, a block west of Middle Belt in Livonia.

He comes to the local church from the Missionary Church of Petoskey, where he served seven years. Before that he served churches in Davison, and in Indiana.

Born and reared in Detroit, Rev. Murphy is a graduate of Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky. He also has attended Bethel College at Mishawaka, Ind., and Goshen College Biblical Seminary at Goshen, Ind.

He and his wife, Jean, are making their home in the Calvary parsonage at 29242 Barkley, Livonia. They have a married son.

Stone, who has gained national fame as author, editor and evangelist as well as educator, will speak at 7 p.m. Sunday and at 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

His talks will deal specifically with three subjects, "The Sovereignty of God," "The Scripture" and "Situations." After each lecture there will be time for questions and discussion.

The visiting lecturer is a native of Clovis, N.M., and has degrees from the Ozark Bible College and the Cincinnati Bible Seminary, the school he now heads. He also has studied at Earlham College and the University of Missouri.

He has had ministries in Missouri and Ohio and for a time edited a magazine and youth quarterlies at Standard Publishing in Cincinnati. He taught journalism and practical min-

World food problem needs 'good Samaritan,' layman says

By MARGARET MILLER

If the Christian church takes seriously the story of the Good Samaritan, says one of this area's leading laymen, then it should give its support to birth control and family planning.

The two go together, believes Donald M. (Hoppy) Hanson of Redford Township, because emergency food may save life but only tackling the over-population question can begin to improve quality of life for many in the world's underdeveloped areas.

"I realize an idea like this is political and theological dynamite," said Hanson a member of Village United Presbyterian Church. "but I feel it's such a serious issue it should go into the Judeo-Christian ethic."

Long active in the distribution of food from this country to the hungry overseas, Hanson said he has become increasingly convinced this is only part of the church's missionary duty.

"Shipping food overseas is dealing with the symptoms rather than the cause of a very serious problem," he said. "We have kept people alive without any thought to the fact that their lives may be almost animal-like."

THE GOOD SAMARITAN story comes into the picture, in Hanson's view, because in that parable told by Jesus the helpful passerby not only gave immediate aid to a needy traveler but also made provision for checking on his future well-being.

Translating that into today's terms,

Donald M. (Hoppy) Hanson talks about feeding the world and also controlling its population. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

he suggested that "if we feed people and do nothing about the population explosion in many countries we're responsible for their pitiful existence."

"We must look at what we can do at the other end of the scale in the areas of birth control and family planning."

"There must be more of a motive to help than making ourselves feel good."

THERE HAVE BEEN some first steps toward birth control programs in some Asian countries, Hanson said, "but the idea never has really been able to get off the ground and I see it as a political problem in the church hierarchy."

"It's going to take some hard talk on the part of some religious leaders, but I think some one is soon going to have to take this stand," he added.

Going back to the Good Samaritan, he remembered being in Shanghai in 1946 and seeing terrible living conditions.

"Thousands were starving," he said, "but the Quakers were about the only people doing much to help. Others tended to shy away, because there's an old Chinese belief that if you save a life you are responsible for that person."

That responsibility, he said, is what the church is failing to accept today. "The Good Samaritan went the whole way, and I think we should too," he concluded.

HANSON a retired officer of the U.S. Navy and head of the Naval Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps at Bentley High School in Livonia, was one of the initiators of Operation Handclasp, a program in which U.S. military personnel extended help to starving people beginning shortly after World War II.

Stationed in Asia in 1946 and 1947, he said he and his wife saw first-hand the "desperate need and starvation" in China.

"There were 160,000 refugees on the edge of starvation, and the missionaries there could help no more than half of them," he said.

When Navy men launched Operation Handclasp, he said, "we were dealing with human needs."

"I thought then it had to be done, and I still think it has to be done now," he added. "We have to be responsive to deal with desperate situations. No way could I say cut off the supply of food."

BUT HANSON FEELS the move on

Medic talks of food production

"It makes no difference whatever how much food the world produces, if it produces people faster," says a consultant for the National Dairy Council.

Dr. Laurence M. Hursh says that "The world as we know it will likely be ruined before the year 2000, and the reason for this will be its inhabitants failure to comprehend two facts."

Fact number one is that world food production cannot keep pace with the galloping growth of population.

Fact number two is that family planning cannot, and will not, in the foreseeable future check this runaway growth.

The doctor points out that this information comes from a statement issued by the Environmental Fund in Washington, D.C.

"Basically, the Environmental Fund takes issue with all of us referring to the world food crisis," says Dr. Hursh. "Fund spokesmen believe there is not a food crisis but a population crisis."

The world is divided between nations which increase their food produc-

47 church families act against hunger

Forty-seven families who belong to the Geneva United Presbyterian Church in Canton Township recently made personal commitments to do something about world hunger. They also vowed to improve the environment.

They acted because of their belief that Christians have a moral obligation to care for those in need.

They signed a card prepared by members of the church's environmental awareness committee on which they indicated the way they would participate in the struggle against hunger and improve the environment.

Twenty families will give at least $10 a week to one of the eight organizations listed on the card which fight hunger. Four families will do volunteer work for a organization which deals with hunger. Eight families will raise money for FOCUS:HOPE by walking in their Brotherhood Walk Sunday, Nov. 2.

Thirty-nine families will contribute each month to the church's food pantry, which is used to supply needy families in the area with canned food and staples.

Twenty families vowed to use organic fertilizers in place of chemical fertilizers during 1976. Thirty-one families will avoid using products which come in aerosol cans, and 37 families will recycle bottles, cans and newspapers each month.

Seventeen families will buy beverages only in returnable bottles for three months, and 26 families will write their state legislator in favor of House Bill 4296 which would ban throwaway bottles and cans.

Nineteen families promised to turn in a high protein, beefless recipe to be used in a cookbook containing similar recipes. Forty-seven families will have one or two beefless days each week for at least a month.

Fifteen families vowed to use honey, molasses and so forth as substitute for refined sugar, and 17 families will bake their own bread and cookies.

Thirty-seven families will substitute fresh fruits and vegetables for "junk" foods used in snacks.

"The environmental committee felt that all these items related directly to a change in lifestyle which is needed on the part of the American people," said the Rev. Jeffrey S. Goldsmith, pastor of Geneva United church.

Getting settled made simple.

New-town dilemmas fade after a WELCOME WAGON call.

Friday, Nov. 21—Plymouth Symphony League bazaar will run from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Plymouth Community Credit Union, Harvey Street in Plymouth. On sale will be baked goods, greens, macrame hangers, Christmas items, toys and home accessories.

Friday, Nov. 21—The Christmas Fair at St. John's Episcopal Church, lunch and dinner. Booths will have candles, needlepoint, baked goods, knitted and crocheted items, Christmas decorations and tree ornaments, white elephants, sockcraft and a book nook (used books).

Saturday, Nov. 22—St. Dunstan Altar Society will hold a holiday craft fair in the church hall, 1515 Belton, Garden City, from 12 noon to 7 p.m.

More than 20 tables of handmade items from ceramics to oil paintings will be offered, along with a country kitchen with many homemade goodies.

Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 22 and 23—St. Agatha Women's Club will present its annual Christmas boutique, featuring handmade gifts, novelties, candles, wreaths and religious items. Also planned are a snack bar and a bakery booth.

The hours are 6 to 9 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 29 and 30—The Grange Hall and the Masonic Temple in Plymouth will be filled with the handwork of individual craftsmen, and the Plymouth Business and Professional Women and the Plymouth Soroptimists will have bake sales. The hours for all the festivities will be 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

LWV gala offers wine and cheese

The third annual wine and cheese party sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Plymouth, Canton and Northville will be held in the home of Mrs. Walter Couse of Edensberry Street in Northville.

Mrs. Couse, although not a league member, has been a financial supporter of LWV activities for years and is opening her historic home for the party Friday, Nov. 21 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Ferguson appears at C'ville

Maynard Ferguson and his orchestra will appear in concert at Clarenceville High's Auditorium, 20155 Middlebelt Road, Livonia, on Sunday and Monday, Nov. 23 and 24 at 8 p.m.

Probably the most popular band on the road today, Maynard is making his 10th appearance at Clarenceville. His band mixes some standard jazz tunes with a lot of new and emerges with enough energy to leave the audience cheering long after the last incredible high note of Maynard's trumpet is sounded.

Sunday's performance will be preceded by a mini-concert by the Clarenceville High Jazz Ensemble and Monday's by the Kevin Gibbs Quartet. Both mini-concerts will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are available at Hammell Music Inc. on Middlebelt north of Five Mile and at Grinnell's in the Livonia Mall. The auditorium box office will be open on Thursdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

Psychic returns to Schoolcraft

Gil Eagles, the psychic who set the Schoolcraft College campus rocking with disbelief and delight at his feats of ESP and hypnosis, is coming back by popular demand.

He will appear in the Waterman Campus Center, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, on Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 8 p.m.

Eagles was born and raised in Tanganyika, East Africa, educated in London and has entertained thousands with his baffling demonstrations. Probably his most daring performance was riding a motorcycle around the brink of Snake River Canyon while blindfolded, before Evel Knievel's attempted jump in September of 1974.

Last year at Schoolcraft, he demonstrated his psychic powers by quoting U.S. currency serial numbers and revealing unspoken thoughts of volunteers from the audience. He hypnotized 12 volunteers, all at once, and changed them into characters ranging from Napoleon to Tarzan. Under his guidance they searched for lost shoes which they held in their hand, ate invisible ice cream cones and reacted to post-hypnotic suggestions after they had returned to their seats.

Because of Eagles' popularity, advance tickets are recommended and are available at the College Bookstore at $2.50 general admission and $1.50 for Schoolcraft students. For information, phone the college and asks for cultural public affairs.

'Livonia who?' attitude goads Patriots

By JIM BRADLEY

Livonia Who?

This seems to be the question in the minds of several grid coaches around the metropolitan area who are loudly voicing the opinion their own football team should be in the state Class A football semi-finals Saturday afternoon.

Livonia Franklin (8-1) is pitted against Detroit Southwestern (8-0) at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium in one matchup while Kalamazoo Central (9-0) meets Traverse City (9-0) at Lansing Sexton's Memorial Field in the other. Both games start at 1:30 p.m.

Coach Armand Vigna's Patriots got the nod when Birmingham Brother Rice was defeated, 7-0, by Dearborn Divine Child Sunday afternoon. The final statistics gave Franklin a 103.22 playoff point average to Rice's 100.88 in Region 11.

Southwestern head coach Joe Hoskins thought his Detroit public league champs would play Brother Rice and when the Warriors were upset Sunday he was informed his opponent would be Franklin.

"Who's that?" Hoskins responded. Coach Vigna and athletic director George Lovich, who was Franklin head coach for seven years through 1974, find the recent articles in the metropolitan daily newspapers and other insinuations quite irritating.

Although neither one wants to make an issue of the matter, both have something to say on the subject. Vigna says: "Detroit newspapers have never rated us very high over the years even when we had perfect seasons so it comes as no surprise. But I don't want to make an issue of it, we don't have any explaining to do."

Vigna, whose team took Northwest Suburban League honors this year for the third consecutive year and was the only team to beat Westland John Glenn, feels the system is fair.

"We all knew the rules before the season started and how the points would be given. We played a tougher schedule than Brother Rice, for example, and our opponents won more games than Rice's did."

"I'll say one thing, Brother Rice and its coach Al Fracassa have a lot of class and have not said one word about the disappointment of not going to the playoffs.

"We've won 26 of our last 28 games and year after year we are ignored in the final ratings. This year, we won it on the field and we'll let our performance Saturday speak for us. Our boys have worked hard and are very deserving of playing in the semi-finals. I think it's a wonderful opportunity to demonstrate how we can play football." Lovich has long been a 'giant' among football coaches in the area, posting a seven-year record of 49-9-1. A local coach said this week: "I've been around a long time and you knew that you had to point toward Franklin if you wanted to have a successful season, it's that simple." "Franklin's record for the last ten years is 57-10-1, which should speak for itself," Lovich says firmly. "During that span we have never been shut-out.

"On the other hand, we have posted 27 shutouts, had 16 games in which we allowed one touchdown or less, 15 games in which we permitted two TDs or less, seven contests in which the opposition has scored three touchdowns. Only in two games did we give up as many as four touchdowns and we once were scored on five times. "I'm very proud of that record and I'm sure those who know our brand of football also know these boys deserve to be in Saturday' state playoffs."

Southwestern got into the playoffs with a 119.0 playoff point rating to Warren Fitzgerald's 111.11 in Region I, beating Cass twice in the process and the only team to score on the Technicians this year.

Lovich said Franklin had 3200 tickets for Saturday's game and they would be sold Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at $2 each until sold out. Round-trip bus tickets to the game and back can also be purchased for $1.

For those driving to the game, take Telegraph Road north to M-59. Turn right on M-59 to the second entrance of Wide Track Drive, turn left on Wide Track Drive to the Waterford Exit (this will put you on Oakland Ave. which is a one-way street). Wisner Stadium is on Oakland Ave., about two miles off Wide Track Drive.

Franklin's side is on Cass Ave. Go past stadium and circle to your left past a Chevy dealer and parking lot entrance is on Cass.

In all the hulabaloo about the semifinalists, the game itself has been slightly overlooked. Southwestern will pit its offense, led by versatile quarterback Mike Marshall, who can do everything on a football field, against the rugged defensive unit of Franklin.

Southwestern's 6-2 defense is anchored by linebacker Raymond Cabarris and freshman cornerback Walter Smith.

Franklin's punishing defense posted five shutouts this season, allowed only 44 points and has permitted three points in its last four contests.

If there is a question, it will be how the Patriots will be able to move the ball on offense against Southwestern's quick defense.

Coach Armand Vigna, in his first year as Livonia Franklin's head grid mentor after 10 seasons as an assistant, goes over game strategy with his key players in preparation for Saturday's

Leaps into Grid playoffs

Franklin rips Bentley

Livonia Franklin ran up a three-touchdown lead in the first half against Bentley Saturday, then let the defense take over in its 21-0 victory over the Bulldogs of Glen Goode.

Even then, Coach Armand Vigna's squad had to wait a full 24 hours before they found out they were in the state playoffs when Dearborn Divine Child upset Birmingham Brother Rice, 7-0, Sunday afternoon.

The Patriots scored twice in the first quarter and once in the second to take command. When starting quarterback Dave Wilson got his bell rung early in the game, he had to be removed. But nothing was diminished as Dennis Smith stepped in and fired a pair of touchdown passes.

Smith's first scoring toss was a nine-yard touchdown to tight end Mike Kaseta after the junior signal-caller had moved Franklin 51 yards in 10 plays.

Smith, playing with the poise of a veteran, drove the favored Patriots 66 yards in nine plays, hitting flanker Jerry Pollard with a 19-yard touchdown pass with just one second left in the first period.

Sam Williams, who has played the last two games after being okayed by the doctors to play again after separating his shoulder, booted all three extra points. He also played outstanding defense, according to his coaches, and has given a new lift to the Patriots in their drive for a state title.

"He looks one hundred per cent," Vigna beamed, "and the whole team just seems to respond when he's back in his regular linebacker spot or at offensive end. He's just an outstanding player."

Tim Hollandsworth, who bulled 36 yards in nine carries from his full-back spot, plunged one yard in the second period for the final home team score.

Valuable Jimmy Casey rambled 84 yards in 20 carries and Pollard colared three passes for 39 yards and one touchdown. Smith and Wilson connected on 10 of 17 passes for 107 yards.

Bentley was paced by fullback Tim Oakley's 100 yards in eight rushes. Russ Hodges, who was injured and removed in the fourth quarter, and Mark White combined to complete seven of 18 aeriels for 63 yards. Sam Williams intercepted one Bentley pass.

Williams interception ran Franklin's total to 22 for the year and Vigna's

Northwest Suburban League champs now look forward to going to Pontiac Saturday to play undefeated Detroit Southwestern in the state football semi-final playoffs at Wisner Stadium.

GC, Westland gridders help Divine Child

Livonia Franklin won't be the only area team in Saturday's state high school football playoffs which will have solid support from Observer & Eccentric readers.

Dearborn Divine Child, which beat Brother Rice for the Catholic League championship and thus gained the Class B playoffs, also has avid backing in the area, and on the Falcon squad are six players from Garden City and Westland.

In Saturday's Class B semifinals, Divine Child will face Sturgis in a 1:30 p.m. game at Battle Creek. The winner will meet the survivor between the other two semifinalists, Saginaw MacArthur and Flint Ainsworth Nov. 22 in Central Michigan University Stadium for the Class B title.

In the lineup of the unbeaten Falcons are center Eric Ford, cornerback Nick Sabol, linebacker Mike Wiacek, offensive tackle Mike Prevost, all of Garden City, and two players from Westland, offensive guard Duane Stopa and defensive safety Steve Savini.

Ford, Sabol, Wiacek, Prevost and Stopa all prepped at St. Raphael's School in Garden City before entering Divine Child High School, while Savini attended St. Mary's in Wayne.

Over a 15-year period, Divine Child has one of the best football records in the state, losing only 15 games over that span. The Falcons are 9-0 for this season, as Sturgis is also.

Schoolcraft squad eyes national soccer honors

Schoolcraft College's Ocelots have swept to their fourth consecutive state soccer championship and will be in Glen Ellyn, Ill. Friday and Saturday to battle for the inter-regional championship.

If coach Larry Christoff's squad wins this weekend, it will advance to the National Junior College Athletic Association championships at Baltimore, Md. in a double-elimination tournament on Nov. 25 and 26.

Schoolcraft won the Michigan Soccer League title for the second year under Christoff, who assumed the coaching job in 1974 and compiled a 5-0 league record and a 13-2 season mark before losing a 3-2 decision in the inter-regionals last year.

This season, the Ocelots ran up an 8-1-2 overall record to again win the soccer title in a league that includes Macomb, Dearborn Henry Ford, Bay City Delta and Battle Creek Kellogg colleges.

Last year, four Schoolcraft players made all-league and Christoff again has a host of good ones led by center-halfback Arthur Wyszynski, whom Christoff lists as a prime candidate for all-american honors. "Realistically, we have as good a chance as anyone else in the regionals," Christoff said as his team prepared for this weekend's playoffs.

"This year's squad is tops in hustle and desire and I believe that will pay off in the end."

Christoff listed Steve Paul, an inside right forward, as a strong choice for all-conference and a candidate for all-American. He is the second leading scorer with nine goals.

Top goal-getter is center-forward Ennio Petralia with 15 goals, including four against Kellogg and three in Schoolcraft's final season 4-0 win over Cuyahoga West Community College of Ohio.

Goalie Craig Brown has also been a standout all year, posting two shut-outs, giving up only four "legitimate" goals and eight penalty shot scores.

Christoff, who coached at Livonia Stevenson High for six years before joining Schoolcraft last year, also named halfback Greg Krutzbeg and hustling Rick Young as key players.

Abundis' 'greatest game' paces Thurston win

Gary Abundis romped for four touchdowns Saturday as Thurston pounded Redford Union, 35-6, in the season finale for both teams.

Don Riehl's Eagles ended the season with a 3-6 record, winning three of its last five games while Bob Atkin's Panthers weren't able to pick up a win during the year, finishing 0-9.

"It's the greatest game I've ever seen a high school player have," coach Riehl said about Abundis' performance. "He scored four touchdowns, kicked three extra points, caught a pass for 37 yards, rushed 112 yards in 12 carries and made nine unassisted tackles, six of them throwing the Redford Union ballcarrier for losses."

Thurston rushed for 184 yards and picked up an additional 79 through the air as quarterback Roy Pilgian completed 2-of-7 for a total of 263 yards and 12 first downs.

Redford Union picked up 104 yards on the ground and hit 6-of-22 aeri-als for 65 more for a 169 total and nine first downs.

With fullback Brian Garber block-ing beautifully, halfback Abundis provided the ground punch to send the Eagles flying to a substantial 28-0 half-time lead. Thurston got on the board first in the initial quarter when junior noseguard George Darany, called "Stumpy" by his teammates because of his 5-6, 190 pound frame recovered an RU fumble on the Panther 33. Gar-ber's block sprung Abundis free for a 16-yard gain in the drive then Garber ran seven yards for the touchdown and Abundis added the extra point.

The Eagles upped it to 14-0 minutes later when Abundis scooped up another RU fumble and raced 35 yards down on the sidelines. The ball had been jarred loose by a bone-crunching tackle by end Dennis Graff.

Thurston added two more TDs in the second frame, one on a 13-yard off-tackle sprint by Abundis. The run followed a pass interception by line-backer Dave Kapaun who picked off two in the game. Garber also stole two RU aeri-als and defensive-end Rich Droste and Gregg Polidori each grabbed one interception.

Moving the Eagles 51 yards in four plays were the TD run besides another 17-yard scamper by Abundis, an 11-yard sweep by Garber and a 10-yard option keeper by Pilgian.

Abundis rambled 27 yards for the fourth Thurston score and John Miller added the extra point.

Redford Union came out fired up in the second half and moved 59 yards in 16 plays to get on the scoreboard, but the kick was blocked as the Eagles led, 28-6. Key man in the drive was sophomore Brian Macek, a 5-8, 150-pound tailback who carried 10 times for 40 of the 51 yards in the drive. Jim Grimwade passed six yards to end Mark Ryder for the TD.

Abundis did his thing again with a one-yard TD plunge and John Miller again converted the kick for the final 35-6 count. "It was a good finish for our team and the first win we've had over RU since 1961," said Riehl.

"Coach Atkins did a fine job over there and his kids never quit for a mo-ment."

Riehl also high had praise for Gar-ber, who rushed 50 yards in 10 car-ries.

Kosovac's 32 points lead RU to cage victory

Redford Union girl's basketball squad got back on its winning ways Tuesday night with a 75-44 romp over Livonia Franklin, after being beaten by Salem last week.

Linda Kosovac, a 5-11 scoring ace, set a school record as she pumped in 32 points on 13 field goals and 6-of-8 free throws. She also hauled down 21 rebounds before leaving the game early.

Ken Dersey's team, which ran its record to 12-3, also got 11 points from Lori Slack, 10 from Cindy Rossi, who also played a good floor game, and six each from Sue Pastula and Jill Kil-pela.

Livonia Franklin was led by for-ward Kathy Canfield and Karen Dzi-kowski who each pumped in 14 points. Teammate Carol Mulkenen added 11 for the Patriots in the non-league con-test.

The Pantherettes have averaged 32 percent from the field in their first 14 games while hitting 50 percent of their free throws.

Redford Union hosts Livonia Ben-ley in its last home game tonight with the JV game starting at 6:30 and the varsity immediately after.

Next Tuesday, strong Livonia Ste-venson will test the Pantherettes on the Spartan court with JV action start-ing at 6:15 p.m.

Salem girls bomb Edsel Ford cage club in 61-25 romp

Plymouth Salem's girl cagers continue to move at the pace set by last year's boy's team that went to the state semi-finals.

Tuesday night Debbie Hatcher's Rocks demolished Dearborn Edsel Ford, 61-25, with the starters playing only the first half. Salem rolled to a 15-6 first quarter lead, increased it to a ridiculous 38-9 at half and coasted in from there as the subs flooded the floor.

Freshman Diane Goodrich canned 14 points and hauled down eight rebounds in the half she played. Forward Peggy Moore, also playing just the first half, tossed in 13 and grabbed 10 caroms while guard Carol Crissey led the floor game with four assists and five interceptions.

Edsel Ford's high-scorer, guard Lynn Putnam, was guarded by defensive ace Kathy Dillon who held her to four first half points before leaving the game.

Coach Hatcher also praised Loretta Jacobson and Cindy Richards, who both scored six points in the second half.

"The girls are playing well together and we're looking forward to the state tournament next week," said coach Hatcher of her Rocks who ran their season mark to 14-2.

"We're shooting 32 percent from the floor, which isn't too good, but our starters have much higher percentage than that. Also, we're going to have to try and raise our poor 37 percent free throw shooting mark," Mrs. Hatcher said.

Salem ends its regular season against visiting Allen Park tonight and a special attraction at the game will be a lighted blimp, six-foot long and four foot high, worn by some ingenuitive Salem student.

Salem will scrimmage powerful Bishop Borgess Saturday to sharpen up for the state girls' basketball tournament next week.

Swiftly

Dan Quinn, former Livonia Franklin grid star, scores his first varsity touchdown on a 49-yard counter play in the struggle between Wayne University and Northeast Missouri. For the season, he's rushed five times for 72 yds, a 14.4 record.

The WSU freshman swiftly, an All-Stater a year ago, has 78 yards on five kickoff returns and covered one opponent fumble.

Stevenson swim coach Lois McDonald prepares her girls for the state meet on Friday and Saturday. Expected to do well are (from left) Linda Hein in the 200-yard individual medley and 100-butterfly; Laura Kloote, a 100-and 200-yard butterfly performer; Becky Stanley in the 50 and 100 free style and Carol Eggers, a junior who won the 50 freestyle and 100 backstroke last year at the state meet and set a state record in the 100 backstroke. Preliminaries are Friday with the finals on Saturday.

Stevenson mermaids go after state swimming championship

Lois McDonald, who has coached swimming at Livonia Stevenson High School for 10 years, has perhaps her best women's team ever this year and is determined to keep East Lansing from taking the state title for the third consecutive year.

"We know East Lansing is loaded and super tough," she says, "but we're going to make sure they earn any first places they take."

Mrs. McDonald's only losing season came in her first year and she's had nine winning years in a row, including an unbeaten team last year and another all-victorious string of 14 meets this season.

The affable coach, who loves to wear a shirt with "Superfish" emblazoned across the front, believes she has the swimmers to give powerhouse East Lansing a swim for their money. "I'm not predicting we'll win, because East Lansing is very deep in talent, but if we're at our best Friday and Saturday, I believe we'll do well both individually and as a team," Mrs. McDonald's aquatic girls are paced by a pair of juniors and a couple sophomores in their quest for state honors.

JUNIOR CAROL EGGERS has been performing in excellent fashion so far this season after taking first in the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard backstroke events in the state meet last year. She was a double winner in the first Michigan Invitational Swim meet at Wayne State University's pool as Stevenson's girls won six of 11 events.

"Carol has lots of natural ability and strength, has leadership ability and encourages all the other swimmers," says coach McDonald. "She is an excellent team worker, swims all strokes well and has a delightful sense of humor."

LINDA HEIN, sophomore, finished first in the 200-yard individual medley and 100 fly races in the Michigan Invitational. "Linda will have to drop her times to win at the state meet, but she works hard, tries to do her best at all times and although she's a little quiet, Linda has a strong desire to succeed," said Mrs. McDonald.

JUNIOR LAURA KLOOTE was fourth in the 100 butterfly in last year's state meet and is currently under last year's time in that event. She was second in the 100 fly at the Michigan Invitational last month.

"Laura swims all strokes well and although basically a sprinter, she swims the 200 individual medley well because she has the fundamentals in all strokes," says her coach.

She is very coachable and works hard on stroke drills and training patterns, according to Mrs. McDonald.

SOPHOMORE BECKY STANLEY swims everything well, says her coach but is outstanding in the 50 and 100 freestyle events. "Becky gives her all in every workout and is a real leader at every meet. This team couldn't make it without her versatility, speed and spirit."

Coach McDonald is very proud of her squad and it reflects in the way she beams about her girls. "Our Stevenson team is fifty percent spirit and fifty percent talent—they're interested in each other. Non-state participants have been elected captains of the team, we change each two weeks, because of their spirit and managerial ability in running the team at a meet."

All the Stevenson girls going to the State Finals have had AAU experience. "Becky Stanley and Nancy Walker swim for the Livonia Y. Liz Hatfield is a Bulldog and Pixie Smith is from Clarenceville."

Coach McDonald mentioned that Lori Loomis, Laura Kloote and Linda Hein work out with the Garden City Parks and Recreation Department. Theresa Sieh practices with the age group program at Oakland University and Carol Eggers and Lori Tobis belong to the Livonia Spartans which Mrs. McDonald coaches at Stevenson.

"Our team, just like all other top teams, can only succeed with the support of parents, booster clubs and school administrators," coach McDonald emphasized.

"Our basic element is pool time and the Stevenson athletic director, Carl Fetz has always been more than fair in providing all girl's teams with a share of the facilities. We appreciate that very much."

Spartans sure of at least tie for cage crown

Coach Liz Embree's strong Spartans romped over Walled Lake Central, 43-26, to clinch at least a tie for the inter-lakes basketball championship Tuesday night.

The victory ran Livonia Stevenson's league record to 9-0 and the Spartans play second-place Milford Lakeland (8-1) tonight with a chance to win the championship outright. Milford barely lost to Stevenson the first time around, 35-31, in overtime.

In running its record to 13-3 on the season, Stevenson got balanced scoring. Dawn Klann scored 10, Jeri Isenhardt added eight points and 14 rebounds in one half while Carolyn Booth snared 13 rebounds and scored six points.

Guard Brenda Tipton was aggressive on the boards with 10 caroms.

Stevenson held a 9-2 lead at the first break, ran it to 19-7 at intermission, 34-15 after three before settling for the 43-26 final.

In the preliminary JV game, forward Laura Burke's 15 points and 16 rebounds paced the Spartans to a 45-23 win, the 10th graders' 11th victory in 12 starts and a first-place 8-0 league mark.

Debbie Dernay had nine points and 15 points while Leslie Hengesbaugh played a strong game both ways.

Next Tuesday is Parents' Night at Stevenson as the Spartans host the rugged Redford Union Pantherettes in their final home game of the regular season before the state tournament starts on Thursday.

Stevenson High School is one of the sites of district and regional play in the girls' state basketball tournament.

Dems' guest

State Sen. John Otterbacher of Grand Rapids will among the U.S. Senate candidates expected to attend the Wayne-2nd District Democratic dinner at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Waterman Center on the Schoolcraft College, Haggerty north of Six Mile. Tickets are available from Mrs. Marcie Brooks or Mrs. Paul Kadish.

2nd District Dems donate funds to SC

A check for $1,200 has been presented to Schoolcraft College by the Wayne 2nd District Democratic Party as the initial installment toward a Beatrice McDonald memorial scholarship fund.

The memorial to Mrs. McDonald, who died recently, will make awards available to nursing candidates at Schoolcraft. The awards will be $100 to an individual student year with a maximum of $400 per year.

District chairman Marvin Stempien praised the many individuals who offered private contributions and those who worked on a four-day rummage and bake sale sponsored by the Democratic party. The sale raised nearly $400, he said.

The McDonald scholarship fund will be supplemented yearly by a district committee, Stempien said.

Committee chairman is Paul Kadish, chairman of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, and secretary-treasurer is Barbara Johnson, Democratic vice-chairperson.

Students will be selected to receive the awards by the college.

Psychologists—topic at Mercy

The psychologist as "trouble shooter," social psychology in action, will be discussed by Dr. Orian Worden at 8 p.m., Nov. 18 in the Mercy College of Detroit Student Center.

Dr. Worden is the first guest this year in the Distinguished Speaker Series sponsored by the Mercy psychology department.

He has been associated, since 1964, with the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan's two centers: the Survey Research Center and the Center for Research of Utilization of Scientific Knowledge.

The program is open to the public free of charge.

INSULATE!

Proper insulation can save you hundreds of dollars in heating and cooling costs over the life of your home. Check your attic. If it doesn't have at least six inches of high quality insulation, talk to your insulating contractor, or us, about installing more. We can recommend qualified contractors...even arrange financing. It's all part of a Michigan Public Service Commission program to help conserve energy.

Weather stripping, storm windows and doors, or insulating glass all help reduce heat loss, too.

For more ideas about how to use energy wisely, pick up our free booklet, "Why Insulate."

Rocks bow to Andover

By THOMAS ZAIBEK
Special Writer

The Plymouth Salem JV football team lost its final game of the season, 24-6 to Bloomfield Hills Andover.

Andover scored two quick touchdowns in the first quarter, one in the second and one in the third quarter.

The only Salem score came in the second quarter on a 70-yard run by John Lewelling.

The Rocks Junior Varsity ended the season with five wins and three losses.

Salem places 2d in league swim meet

By ANNE SULLIVAN
Special Writer

The Suburban 8 swimming and diving championships were held Nov. 5-6 at Redford Union High and Plymouth Salem Rocks earned 166 points to tie for second with Dearborn. The Salem swimmers finished 4-2 in the league and 7-5 overall.

The Rocks held one league record in the 200-yard freestyle by Marion Stanwood at 2:11. She broke her own record taking first at 2:03.2 for a new league record.

Salem's results at the Suburban 8 championships are:

200 individual medley, Sue Stanwood, second at 2:26;

50 freestyle, Tamie Crespo, fourth at 26.8;

100 butterfly Sue Stanwood, fourth at 1:06.9;

100 freestyle, Crespo, fourth at 1:00.3;

500 freestyle, Marion Stanwood, first at 5:38.5; and 100 backstroke, Jill McCann, third at 1:10.8.

The 400 freestyle relay team from Salem came in third at 4:01.1.

Crespo, Chris LeClair, Marion and Sue Stanwood will be going to the state finals tomorrow (Friday) to compete in the 400 freestyle relay.

Crespo will also be going in the 50 freestyle.

Marion Stanwood also will be representing Salem in the 200 and 500 freestyle.

Sue Stanwood will also be in the 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly.

Canton swimmers place 5th in Western 6 meet

By ANNE SULLIVAN
Special Writer

The Western 6 girls swimming and diving championships were held Nov. 5-6 with Plymouth Canton finishing fifth with 133 points.

The Chief swimmers finished their season with an overall record of 1-12.

This didn't discourage the Chiefs in any way. This young squad, mostly freshmen, improved their individual time with every meet and set many varsity records this season. With the close of the 1975-76 swim season the Canton Chiefs have a well deserved win and a very optimistic outlook for next season.

The results of the Western 6 championships for Canton are:

200 yard medley relay team of Peggy McElmeel, Laura Toor, Kay Spring, Sue McCourt came in fifth;

200 freestyle, Lori Hogan, fifth at 2:27.8, for a Canton varsity record;

200 individual medley, Cindy Shelansky, third at 2:33.4;

50 freestyle, Jane Anderson, sixth at 29.3 and Tina DeWalt ninth at 29.6;

100 butterfly, Lori Hogan, third at 1:17.3; Kay Spring eighth at 1:21.4 and Robin Thompson 12th at 1:32.8;

100 freestyle, Anderson seventh at 1:06.5, DeWalt eighth at 1:08;

100 backstroke, Shelansky third at 1:09.5; and

100 breaststroke, Jill Moorehead, 11th at 1:30.6

The 400 freestyle relay team of Anderson, Hogan, DeWalt and Shelansky came in fourth.

Wendy Gray took ninth in diving with 219.04 points.

Cagers ending season tonight

By ROBIN NEIMAN
Special Writer

The Plymouth Salem girls basketball team will end its league play tonight (Thursday) at home in a contest against Allen Park beginning at 6:30 p.m.

With their league title safe in the Suburban 8, the team can use the contest against Allen Park as a time to get things in order for the district playoffs beginning next week.

THE ROCKS won the league title with a 66-52 win over Redford Union. Salem's league record of 9-0 insures them of the championship.

Livonia-Redford production

Musical hit starts Nov. 21

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford has chosen for its musical "Man with a Load of Mischief," which was an off-Broadway hit but is little known outside New York.

Performances are scheduled for Nov. 21, 22, 23; Nov. 28, 29, 30; and Dec. 5, 6, 7; at 15138 Beech Daly, just south of Five Mile Road in Redford. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. (Sundays 7:30). The Nov. 21 performance will be followed by a coffee and dessert reception for the opening night audience.

For reservations or further information, call Mrs. Gregory G. Nelson, 30742 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland.

When "Man with a Load of Mischief" opened in November, 1966, the New York Times critic freely admitted that he was prepared for disaster. His fellow critics shared his concern, for the original Ashley Dukes play on which the musical is based had not been a success when originally produced 40 years before.

VAL SISTO

Also, it was the initial venture of the musical comedy team of John Clifton and Ben Tarver, and the director and cast were relatively unknown. There had been only three preview performances and the advance sale amounted to exactly four tickets.

By the next morning this had all changed. The critics were unanimous in their praise with such comments as "a perfectly charming musical," "instant delight . . . few composers could equal this score," "spritely and ingratiating." There was a rush on the box office and "Man with a Load of Mischief" joined the ranks of only a handful of musicals which have become hits on the off-Broadway stage.

"Man with a Load of Mischief" is a tale of romance and intrigue set in a wayside inn in early 19th century England. A sudden accident to a coach and a gallant rescue bring to this inn four adventurous people - a lovely lady, her maid, Louise, a dashing lord, and his manservant, Charles. The stage is set for romance, something the innkeeper and his wife are eager to encourage so that their guests will extend their stay.

The lord and lady seem perfectly matched. "Such a handsome couple," sighs the wife. And so they are, but it turns out that the lord is more interested in his purse and gaining favor with the prince than he is in romance.

The lady is the prince's mistress, and all too eager to run away and leave behind the kind of life the lord represents. The imminent arrival of the prince brings the intrigues, the stratagems, and the various affairs to a swirling climax.

Cast members are Delores Thomas of Livonia (the lady), Susan Taranowski of Westland (Louise), David MacIntosh of Southfield (the lord), Doug Kerr of Plymouth (Charles), Val Sisto of Taylor (the innkeeper), and Betty Booher of Wayne (the innkeeper's wife). Dr. Ronald Worsley of Detroit, who teaches at Wayne State University and Henry Ford Community College, is director. Mitzi Carol of Dearborn is the choreographer.

Armenian violinist solos with Oakway

Spirited entertainment will greet Oakway Symphony Orchestra fans when they attend the concert planned for 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 30 in Southfield's Lathrup High School.

Featured that day will be a young Armenian violinist with world-wide experience already to her credit, performing Tchaikovsky. Twenty-three-year-old Ida Kavafian brings with her the experience and accolades a much older performer would envy.

Born in Istanbul, Turkey, she began her violin training at six after her family immigrated to the U.S. She studied with Mischa Mischakoff in Detroit.

She quickly became recognized as a significant talent and won several local competitions and the National Federation of Music Clubs auditions. She received a full scholarship to Juilliard where she earned both bachelor and master degrees.

As a young entertainer, Miss Kavafian has distinguished herself in many ways. In 1973 she became the first American to win first prize in the International Vianna da Motta Competition in Lisbon.

As a result of that, she toured Europe, debuted in London and Paris and appeared at Lincoln Center, participated in the Casals Music Festival in Puerto Rico and now performs with Tashi, a quartet which includes pianist Peter Serkin. The group has toured Japan, the U.S., Europe and recently Korea, where they were guests of the American ambassador in Seoul.

If Miss Kavafian is young, her violin is not. It is a J.B. Guadagnini of 1751 vintage. A promotional tea on Thursday, Nov. 13, in designed to promote the upcoming concerts. The tea, which is free and open to the public, is cosponsored by the Detroit Armenian Women's Club.

It will be held at the home of Mrs. Berj Haidostian, 6838 Valley Spring Drive, Birmingham. Highlights of the afternoon will include Andrew Henderson at the harp and speaker Rev. Bertil E. Anderson, president of Oakway Symphony Society.

What make the Oakway Symphony concerts unusual in the entertainment world of Detroit—aside from their enjoyability—is accessibility to the people—in time, location and price. For information on the symphony's concert season, or the tea, call Mrs. Nelda DiBlasi, 425-8618.

Church tour set

As an introduction to the holiday season a program of celebration music will be presented at the Detroit Historical Society's final Historic Church Organ Tour for the year Thursday (Nov. 20).

The four churches to be visited are Trumbull Avenue Presbyterian, Trinity Episcopal, St. John-St. Luke and St. Joseph. The program is open to the public and reservations may be made by sending a check ($8 per person) to the Detroit Historical Society, 5401 Woodward Avenue, Detroit 48202.

The tour begins from the Detroit Historical Museum at 5:30 p.m. via the society's Historymobile which returns to the museum's parking lot around 10:30 p.m. A "church supper" is included in the reservation fee.

Among the selections chosen by Organist Thomas M. Kuras, F.A.G.O. for the program are:

- Felix Mendelssohn: Sonata No. 3 in A Major Op 65, No 3
- Cesar Frank: cantabile
- Dudley Buck: Grand Sonata in E flat, Op 22
- William Boyce: Voluntary No. 1 in D Major
- Josef Rheinberger: Tema Variato, Op 167, No. 9
- J. S. Bach: Prelude and Fugue in C Minor, BW 546
- Marco Enrico Bossi: Landliche Szene, Op 132, No. 3
- Henri Mulet: Carillon-Sortie

How would you like to save $1,500 a year tax-free?

I can show you how to get the most from retirement by saving up to $1,500 each year in a tax-deductible, tax-sheltered Individual Retirement Account. It can mean the difference between enjoying retirement or just getting by.

Retirement is freedom. It's pleasure. Travel. Hobbies. Escape and relaxation. It's a time when financial problems should be the furthest thought from your mind.

If you're not already a participant in a qualified retirement plan, call me.

It pays to know a DETROIT BANK-er better.

"You can actually write yourself a loan by writing a check."

One of life's more frustrating moments occurs when your checkbook balance is insufficient to cover a planned purchase. Now there's a way to write yourself a loan by simply writing a check as we learned by talking with Mike Robinson, Manager of the Grand River-Middlebelt office of Detroit Bank & Trust.

How can I write myself a loan?

"With Ultra/Chek at Detroit Bank & Trust, you simply write a check for the full amount you need to make a particular purchase or to give yourself extra money whenever you need it. Ultra/Chek is a personal line of credit of at least $500 which you can use by intentionally or accidentally overdrawing your Detroit Bank & Trust checking account by $5 or more. With Ultra/Chek, your checks are good regardless of the balance in your checkbook as long as you don't exceed your line of credit."

Can Ultra/Chek keep my checks from "bouncing?"

"Yes. Many people use Ultra/Chek not only to make planned purchases, but to protect against "bouncing" a check. Of course, we encourage our customers to keep their checkbook in balance, but anytime you write a check that overdraws your account, Ultra/Chek will cover it up to your line of credit."

How much does Ultra/Chek cost?

"There are no charges whatsoever until you actually use your Ultra/Chek line of credit. Once you do the finance charge is lower than many installment loan plans or charge card transactions. Once you activate your Ultra/Chek line of credit, you'll receive a statement each month showing the amount borrowed, interest charged, total owed, minimum payment due and the amount of credit still available to you."

How can I get Ultra/Chek?

"Sit down with any DETROIT BANK-er at Detroit Bank & Trust and fill out an Ultra/Chek application. Easy-to-use, convenient Ultra/Chek protection for your checking account is another reason why you ought to know a DETROIT BANK-er better."

 Just E. of Wayne Rd. 729-2000

THE EXECUTIVE EXPRESS.

The men who move most nimbly to the top very often drive Jaguars. A case in point is our Jaguar XJC, the only two-door hardtop built like a Jaguar XJ. This means luxuries like real leather, vinyl roof, authentic cabinet woods and stimulating sports car performance. XJC has four-wheel independent suspension, four-wheel disc brakes, rack and pinion steering. Also standard: the new Jaguar warranty. XJC moves powered by your choice of two justly famous Jaguar engines. You can order the LeMans overhead cam Six, or the astonishingly smooth and powerful electronically fuel-injected aluminum-alloy overhead cam V-12. Decide in favor of the extraordinary. Drive the Jaguar XJC, soon.
